Over 200 Visit Formal Opening Of Farm Bureau

Formal opening proceedings of the Randall County Farm Bureau started Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and continued until 10:30 that evening. Mrs. Alfred Hamblen, Farm Bureau secretary, said Saturday that approximately 200 persons visited the new Farm Bureau facilities during the afternoon and evening. The evening program got underway at 7:30 but there was a steady stream of people visiting the offices from the 2 o'clock opening until the end of the program about 10:30.

The building was decorated by a beautiful bouquet of flowers contributed by the Randall County Home Demonstration Club Council. It was also the Home Demonstration clubs that provided the program Friday evening and the refreshments which were served.

Gus Dietz was program chairman and two clubs were responsible for the program while the others were responsible for refreshments. The two clubs that gave the program were the Jowell Home Demonstration Club and the Green Haven Home Demonstration Club. Jowell club gave a skit, sang songs, and had an educated horse performance. Green Haven club sang songs and led the group in singing.

Mrs. Hamblen said the entire group seemed to enjoy the program very much. In addition to the entertainment, there was a complete history of the Farm Bureau activities in Randall County given by W. H. Upchurch. Radio station KGNC had a representative at the meeting and a program was recorded and broadcast Saturday morning on Cotton John's early morning broadcast.

A special note of thanks was given by the Farm Bureau for the many business men who called to congratulate them during the afternoon open house. Mrs. Hamblen also expressed appreciation for the loan of some chairs to the organization by the Methodist Church and a coffee urn provided by the Ladies Auxiliary of the V.F.W.

Coffee, cake, and cookies were served.

Jim Johnson Died Wednesday: Funeral Held Saturday

James Melvin Johnson, 82, died Wednesday afternoon at 1:55 o'clock at an Amarillo rest home. He had been a resident of Canyon since 1902, and was well known in this community.

Mr. Johnson and Miss Ida Myers were married in 1906. Four daughters and four sons were born to this union.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Griggs-Warren Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. A. J. Pettit, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, of which Mr. Johnson was a member.

Survivors are: the wife; four daughters, Mrs. Ola Mae Williams, Commerce, Tex.; Mrs. O. D. West, Amarillo; Mrs. Lottie Jo D'Aleo, Inglewood, Calif.; and Mrs. Jessie Bell, Slaton; four sons, Elghin Johnson, Lawndale, Calif.; John Johnson, Hawthorne, Calif.; Rufus Johnson, Oceana, Va.; and Dan Johnson, Borger; 17 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Pall bearers were W. C. Myers, Bud Myers, Bob Chambers, Milton Myers, E. M. Myers, Russell Bishop.

4-H Boys and Girls Coming to Contests

About 125 boys and girls will compete here at West Texas State College Saturday in District I elimination contests of the 4-H Club. The district comprises 26 Panhandle counties.

Winners of the various contests will be eligible to compete in the state contests at College Station June 8. Arranging the district program at WT is Dr. M. R. Calliham, head of the agriculture department, and judges will be WT faculty members.

The day's events open at 10 a.m. in the Administration Building auditorium where a general assembly will be held. Following completion of events, the group will meet in a final assembly for presentation of awards.

Contests are slated in rifle shooting, "Share the Fun," public speaking, electric demonstration, dairy team demonstration, soil, water and range conservation, farm and home safety, dairy foods teams, dairy foods individuals, vegetable team, shrub identification, and tractor operating.

Bette McGehee Is Given New Honor

Miss Bette McGehee of Canyon, junior of Texas Tech at Lubbock, has been given membership in the Forum, woman's honorary organization.

She is one of 18 students given this honor. Miss McGehee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. McGehee, and majors in home economics.

Only $255 Is Collected For $600 Memorial

"Approximately 50 people have contributed to the Memorial Fund for Randall County World War II dead," Jack Jennings, treasurer for the fund, said Saturday. The total amount received by Saturday morning was $255. As one person put it, there was a need for such a memorial more than five years ago. A total of $600 is needed for the memorial that is to be placed in the City Park.

Over two weeks ago letters were sent to all veterans of World War II asking for contributions for the memorial. Out of these 400 letters there have been approximately 50 contributions made. Some of the contributions have come from out of the county. If the memorial is to be dedicated at the same time the park dedication is made the $600 is needed by April 30.

One of the reasons why the full $600 is necessary is that no person or firm is underwriting the memorial. It is strictly a local project for a belated honor to our World War II dead from Randall county. This makes it necessary that a check for the full amount of the plaque accompany the order.

Contributions may be made directly to Jack Jennings or mailed to Levi Cole, Memorial Fund treasurer.

Weed Control Conference at Amarillo Thurs.

The 8th annual weed control conference will be held at the Amarillo experiment station, 14 miles west of Amarillo on highway 66 Thursday, April 28.

Exhibits of spraying and dusting equipment and other machinery and materials will be opened to the public from 9 to 10 o'clock in the morning.

John C. White, Texas commissioner of agriculture, will speak at 10:20 a. m. He will be followed by Lee Coffee of A. & M. College; Joe Jones, county agent of Parmer county; and Delmer Durrett of Amarillo.

A lunch will be served at noon by the Texas Weed Control Association.

Oklahoma and Nebraska speakers will fill the program in the afternoon, with adjournment about 4 o'clock, following an inspection of research plots on the experiment station.

Branding Iron Play Three Nights Next Week Part Art Show

As a part of the "Festival of the Arts" week, slated to open Saturday at West Texas State College, Oscar Wilde's comedy of manners, "The Importance of Being Earnest" will be staged in the Branding Iron Theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 8:15 p. m.

Directed by William A. Moore, the show will be in modern dress and will be presented in "intimate theatre" or "theatre-in-the-round" style. The comedy was presented earlier this month, and is being repeated for festival guests.

Cast includes Jerry Cartwright, Perryton, as Algernon; Gene Ledbetter, Amarillo, as Lane; Avent Smith, Amarillo, as John Worthing; Virdi Knox, Happy, as Lady Bracknell; Letha Fedric, Stratford, as Gwendolyn; Betty Williams, White Deer, as Cecily; Bee Chinn, Borger, as Miss Prism; Don Bauer, Tulia, as Rev. Cannon Chasuble; and Janice Allman, Hale Center, as Merriman.

Student director is Bill McDonald, Canyon; and Eugene Hill, Canyon, and Luther Wilson, Plainview, will handle lighting. Admission is 75 cents for adults, 50 cents for students, and 25 cents for children.

Central Church of Christ Services

Beginning Sunday, May 1st, the Central Church of Christ in Canyon will conduct a series of lessons with Bob Wear of Hereford as the speaker.

Dr. J. B. Roberts will lead the singing for services which will be held at 7:30 p. m. through Saturday, May 7th.

The public is invited and urged to attend these meetings.

The speaker is well known throughout this area as an evangelist and public speaker. He is recognized for his ability as a teacher through the mediums of radio, newspaper, and TV work. He is soon to assume duties as minister of the local congregation in Canyon.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Tommye Prichard Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Tommye Prichard, 55, were conducted Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the church, was in charge of the services. Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of the Griggs-Warren Funeral Home.

Mrs. Prichard died Wednesday morning at 8:25 o'clock at her home in Canyon. She has been ill for several months, seeking relief in both California and Florida. Among her responsible duties in the community was that of Clerk of the Selective Service Board during World War II.

She was born at Winters on April 17, 1900. The family moved to Silverton and from that town to Canyon.

She was converted and joined the Baptist Church when a girl. She has always been a very substantial member of the church.

Survivors include the husband, W. J. Prichard, Canyon; a son, Harold Jay Prichard, Canyon; her mother, Mrs. Addie Hefner, Canyon; four sisters, Mrs. C. O. Elkins, Canyon; Mrs. N. T. Dickerson, Orlando, Fla.; Mrs. F. E. Smith, Winter Gardens, Fla.; and Mrs. M. O. Elliott, Tulia; a brother, O. B. Hefner, Crosbyton; and one grandson.

Pall bearers were: Lee Foster, T. S. Maxwell, Paul Lindsey, Tom Brasher, A. B. Holt, John Williams.

Dr. Sam Johnson Is Named to University

Dr. Samuel B. Johnson has been named as head of the Division of Ophthalmology at the University of Mississippi Medical College at Jackson, Miss. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lee L. Johnson of Canyon and formerly lived here with his parents.

Dr. Johnson will continue to practice in Jackson. He was formerly a faculty member of the Tulane Medical School in New Orleans and has lived in Jackson since 1953. He received his B.S. degree at West Texas State, where he was a member of Alpha Chi and Alpha Sigma Xi.

Dr. Johnson received his M.D. degree from Tulane in 1948, and was a graduate in Ophthalmology in 1950. He received word of his appointment Sunday in Canyon while on a visit in the home of his parents. His mother is recovering from a major operation.

Hiway Post Office Service Starts

A number of Canyon citizens met the new Highway Post Office bus when it made its first trip between Canyon and Roswell. Mayor Hosea Foster and President Truett Hull of the Chamber of Commerce extended greetings of Canyon to the 15 officials of the postal department who accompanied the bus.

Regular service started Sunday, and no more mail has been received by the Santa Fe from Canyon since that time. The two buses will run between Amarillo and Roswell.

Note change in time of Marie's Hair Styling Demonstration on KFDA will begin at 3:30 p. m. on May 2. 3t1

Number Small Claims Filed

According to Carl J. Anderson, justice of the peace Precinct No. 1, 65 claims have been filed in his court since the small claims bill became effective in August, 1953. A large part of the claims were filed during 1954 according to Mr. Anderson.

The law provides that claims may be filed in cases amounting to $50 or less in cases of accounts of sales of merchandise; and $100 or less for labor.

At the present time the person filing the claim may plead his own case before the court without a lawyer. At the present time it is necessary to file a claim in court and the Sheriff is called upon to make a personal citation. There is a bill before the legislature which would change this part of the law with the Justice of the Peace simply notifying the defendant by registered letter that a claim has been filed.

The Justice of the Peace is called upon to conduct the Small Claims Court in each county of Texas.

Mrs. W. J. Flesher is the second Justice in Randall County, with an office in the Tax Collector's building in South Amarillo.

Randall Is Now Third of Quota

Randall county has sold one-third of the year's quota of savings bonds according to a report from Dallas.

Seven counties in the Amarillo district are under Randall, with only four counties having a better record. The district has sold 35.69% of the 1955 quota, while Randall county has a total of 33.03% of the quota sold. There are 12 counties in this district.

The Amarillo area, composed of seven districts, led the state in sales of bonds, with 34.18% bonds sold. All Texas had only 27.66% of the bonds sold for the year.

Supper Golf Begins Sunday

The first Canyon Country Club Hamburger Supper team match of the year will be held Sunday afternoon starting at 1:30 p. m. at the Canyon Club ground golf course. Bill Sternenberg and Charlie Donnell will be captains.

Pairings won't be made in advance. The members can arrange their own opponent. If they don't have an opponent, they will be paired when they arrive.

All male members are invited to enter. Members of the losing squad will be hosts to the winners at a hamburger supper which will be set following the match.

Each match will keep score card of the nine hole match and points will be as follows: Buzzard (2 over par) 1 point; bogie (1 over par) 2 points; par, 4 points; birdie, (1 under par), 4 points; eagles (2 under par), 8 points; and hole in one 20 points.

Following each match the players will leave cards at club house. Plans for other golf activities for the summer will be discussed at the hamburger supper.

Any player not able to play Sunday may play during the week, but must turn in score card before Sunday.

Fine Arts Will Be Featured at West Texas State For Four Days

A rich diet of the fine arts will be served Saturday through Thursday at West Texas State College, when the speech, and art departments present a "Festival of the Arts." Featured will be numerous art exhibits, individual, ensemble and band concerts, and a three-day run of a classic drama.

Observance of WT's first festival opens Saturday with a dinner at 7:30 p. m. in the college cafeteria. Speaker will be Dr. E. William Doty, dean of the college of fine arts, University of Texas. Reservations at $1.50 may be made through Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the WT art department.

Art exhibitions open Sunday, with showings in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, the WT Library, and the college cafeteria. Traveling exhibits include contemporary American paintings by Lynn Trank of Charleston, Ill., and contemporary sculpture and painting by a group of New Mexico artists.

WT alumni exhibits include works by Robert McKenzie of Panhandle; George and Leona Turner, Amarillo; Gene Clardy, Amarillo; Myldred Bishop Sheehan, Lubbock, Clarence Kincaid, Canyon; and many others. Marvin Moon, Perryton senior, will present a one-man show of his works, and also exhibited will be works of WT faculty members, Miss Robinson, Emilio Caballero, and Dr. A. G. Kieselbach.

A recital by Miss Matilda Gaume, pianist, and Royal Brantley, baritone, will be held Sunday at 4 p.m in the Administration Building auditorium, featuring contemporary works of such composers as Schoenberg, Hindemith, Bartok, Harris, and Bright.

A reception for festival guests will be held at 5 p. m. Sunday in the library, where art exhibits open.

Third day of the festival, Monday, will feature a student solo and ensemble recital in Room 104 of the Administration Building, at 4:30 p. m., and a joint concert of the WT A Cappella Choir and the Concert Band is slated at 8 p. m. Works of contemporary composers will be emphasized.

Final event of the festival will be the presentation in the Branding Iron Theatre at 8:15 p. m., Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," classic comedy of manners. Director William A. Moore has set the comedy in modern dress and "intimate theatre" style. Admission is 25 cents for high school students and children, 50 cents for college students, and 75 cents for adults.

University of Oklahoma President Will Talk at West Texas Closing

President of the University of Oklahoma, Dr. George Lynn Cross, will deliver the commencement address May 22 for the more than 250 candidates for degrees at West Texas State College, President James P. Cornette has announced. The spring commencement activities have been set at 5 p. m. in the fieldhouse.

Largest graduating class in WT's history will be awarded degrees this spring, should most of the 258 candidates fulfill requirements, according to Dean Walter H. Juniper. Largest number in the past was in a summer commencement in 1951, when 248 received degrees, and the spring class of 1951 numbered 241. This year, 188 students are seeking the Bachelor's degree, while 70 are candidates for Master's.

Dr. Cross, who has been president of OU since 1944, is described as "a scientist, retooled for administrative responsibilities during World War II." He joined the OU faculty as assistant professor of botany in 1934, and in 1936 was promoted to associate professor. Two years later he was named full professor and head of the botany department, and in 1942 he became acting dean of the Graduate College and acting director of the Research Institute.

The speaker received the B.S. degree at the South Dakota State College in 1926 and his M.S. degree in 1927. He won the Ph.D. degree at the University of Chicago in 1929, and was a research fellow on a Rockefeller grant there in 1929-30.

On Jan. 1, 1944, Dr. Cross was named acting president of OU, and he became president on Aug. 26, 1944.

Dr. Cross is a member of many national groups, including the National Association of State Universities, Botanical Society of America, American Society of Naturalists, National Farm Chemurgic Council, Newcomen Society, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Phi Sigma, American Association of University Professors, Alpha Chi Omega, Ecological Society of America, and National Education Association.

He has also been active in many state groups. He was president of the Oklahoma Academy of Science in 1940, Oklahoma chairman for the March of Dimes campaign in 1949-50-51, state chairman of the USO in 1949-50, and is a member of the Oklahoma Historical Society, the research committee of the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation, and has served as chairman of the Oklahoma state textbook commission and the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

In Norman, Dr. Cross is a member of the Presbyterian church and Chamber of Commerce, and is former president of the Norman Lions Club and OU Faculty Club. He is the author of about 50 technical articles dealing with the mechanics of plant growth.

His biography has appeared in "American Men of Science," "Who's Who In America," "Who's Who in American Education," "International Who's Who," "World Biographies," "Who Knows—And What," and "Directory of American Scholars."

Scouts Attend Field Day

Friday, April 22, 17 Scouts, two leaders, and several parents left for Field Day, in which 1,200 boys from all troops in the Llano Estacado Council attended at Camp Don Harrington.

Boys attending were Alan Hanks, Craig Hinger, Bill Dreiss, Chuck Nester, Eddie Pettitt, Roy Harris, Neal Lemons, Bill Cornette, Dudley Bayne, Ellis Gill, Eugene Blasdel, Marvin Hutton, Bobby Joyner, Larry Brotherton, Stephen Greiner, Dewayne Clay, and Bobby Hacker.

Leaders attending were assistant Scoutmasters Raymond Haddock and Truman Laughery.

Events, which were graded A, B, C, or X, started at 8 a. m. Saturday.

Troop 66 of Canyon tied with Troop 10 of Amarillo for first place with 615 points, but Troop 10 had an A in attendance which is required for the winning team while Troop 66 had a B.

Troop 66 made 12 A's, two B's, and one C.

Charles Boling Is Vice President

ABILENE: Charles Boling, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Boling of Canyon, has been elected vice president of next year's sophomore class at McMurry College.

Other officers of the sophomore class elected for 1955-56 are Dick Countiss of Midland, president; Rita Watkins of Monahans, secretary; and Don Yarbrough of Weslaco, student council representative.

Boling is a 1954 graduate of Canyon High School.

At McMurry, he is a pledge of Ko Sari men's social club.

Roush Promoted to Airman First Class

Sylvester L. Roush has been promoted to Airman First Class in the United States Air Force. He is assigned to the Skill Components Research Laboratory of the Air Force Personnel and Research Center, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

Airman Roush is the son of Mrs. E. J. Larson, 704 25th St., Canyon, and prior to entering the Air Force he was graduated from West Texas State. He received a master's degree in education under the Air Force educational encouragement program, "Operation Bootstrap."

The Air Force Personnel and Training Research Center is one of Air Research and Development Command's ten research Centers and conducts psychological studies to improve methods of selecting and training men and women for Air Force assignments.

National Guard Is Called Out

The National Guard Company of Canyon was called out Wednesday night in a trial practice. Company F of the 142nd Infantry is the official name of the Company, which has an armory east of Canyon.

The men assembled at the armory at 7 o'clock, and was set to guard the water supply system of Canyon in the trial observance.

The National Guard over the nation was in the call, and according to a report from Washington the call was very effective.

Five Local Herds In DHIA News

Five local herds of cattle are represented in the Randall County Dairy Herd Improvement Association News recently published for the month of March. Every class above the 40 to 50 pound class in the monthly publication is represented by a local herd.

Neil Downing has the herd representing high herds in both milk and butterfat. For the category of the ten high cows in butterfat, there are four local herds represented. These are the herds of Neil Downing, Haleswood Farms, Louis Hinders and Richmond Hales. Herds of the same four dairymen are represented in the category of high cows in milk production.

These four dairymen and the herds of West Texas State College are the five local herds listed in the monthly bulletin. The Randall County Dairy Improvement Association is an organization working for the improvement of the dairy industry. In keeping a record of its progress, a monthly publication is published.

The technical bulletin gives all the pertinent information so that the exact progress, or lack of progress, is clearly visible. Each month a number of local dairy herds are listed in the Randall County Dairy Herd Improvement Association News.

17 Bands Thursday; 15 For Friday Nite

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Many Kind Words Spoken by Readers of News Editorials

Before the 46th annual convention of the Panhandle Press Association, the publisher was amazed to have so many words of praise for this page. Expressions of praise and genuine friendship were given by so many readers as the result of the small editorial which we printed two weeks ago.

Yes, we have won twice in recent years with this page at the annual press convention. In spite of the fact that 50% of the weekly newspapers never publish an original editorial, we are still convinced that this page is the life of The Canyon News.

It would be fine if the publisher had the time to publish a brighter page; filled with more correct English than he sometimes uses; and with more humor; but since he is what he is, and the Good Lord made us without the sense of humor which some writers have, we thank all who have been so kind in placing such a high value upon this page.

We are sometimes amazed at the claims which radio men make for the selling powers of their chatter over the air. Please remember that when you have your radio going at full blast, and you are distracted in the least, the chatter of the announcer goes unheeded and is lost forever.

In the newspaper, every member of the family picks it up and reads every word of it. The daily newspaper must draw the attention of the reader in a few hours; the semi-weekly, has three days in which to draw your attention; the weekly has a full seven days in which to command your attention.

Please keep these facts in mind, you advertisers, who think that you would like to have a daily newspaper published in Canyon instead of a weekly.

You would be getting only one-seventh of the benefits of your advertising dollar. And we have not found any person or firm in Canyon who would like to throw away some hard earned money for advertising in a daily publication.

Democratic Leaders Swear They Will Get Scalp of Gov. Shivers

Look out Mr. Shivers. The Democrats are about to get your scalp!

Steve Mitchell, former Democratic National Chairman, has indicated that he will lead the fight against seating the three Governors, who bolted the candidacy of Adlai Stevenson and supported President Eisenhower. These are James F. Byrnes of South Carolina; Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana; and our own Allan Shivers of Texas.

Mitchell, like Harry S. Truman, still thinks that Stevenson could have won if these three Governors had swallowed their pride and remained silent during the campaign. If the three elected Eisenhower, that is their business.

So far as we are concerned, we are happy in the thought that we supported the President, and nothing has changed our mind about his ability.

We are pretty certain that the President will run again, and if this is the case, no Democrat can defeat him.

We express our views: so let the chips fall as they may.

So far as the three "outlaws" are concerned, we are pretty sure that the voters will not look to Steve Mitchell or Harry Truman for their instructions. The voters will do as they think best—and in Texas we are convinced that Allan Shivers is the best man.

Former President Truman Again Talks and Will Be in Fight

Former President Harry S. Truman is not through with politics.

He made it clear that he intends to be in the next political race and will do his best to defeat President Eisenhower.

Democratic warlords are out to defeat Democrats who voted for Eisenhower in 1952. Harry Truman says that it will be their mission. He expressed disdain for all who even for one minute supported the program of the President. No doubt Truman forgets that he too served as President when GOP controlled Congress and he had to rely upon Republicans to carry out his program. President Eisenhower has to rely upon Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson. He deplores this fact, but both Rayburn and Johnson are much bigger than Truman, who believes there is nothing good in the Republican party. These Democratic leaders will go along with the President when they agree with him, and will oppose him when they believe that he is wrong.

We shall go along with the Texas boys, who carry the ball, rather than the vindictive policy of Truman.

Railroads Win Battle; Protect Rights in State of Texas

It has been such a long time since the railroads of Texas have won a battle either political or legal, that the fact of their defeat of the Trinity River project is something worthy of more than passive note.

Here we have Fort Worth, Dallas and a group of other towns and counties through which the Trinity River flows, asking for a bill in the legislature in which the State of Texas would not be taxed one cent.

The bill was passed in the House. The Senate buried the bill in a sub-committee, which is equivalent to defeat.

The railroads pulled a fast job in the defeat of the bill. The argument was used that the Trinity River water was to be used by Fort Worth and Dallas, rather than by irrigation districts, and that this long haul would badly cripple the railroads of Texas.

A major battle will be raging in Austin when the lawmakers meet again. There will be plenty of activity under the big dome down Austin way.

Making plans sometimes requires so much time that the planner hasn't the time left to carry them out.

You can go all around the world without finding a place to live in that is any better than Canyon.

At last count, there were still some French politicians who had not been Premier.

And then there are politicians who like to hear themselves talk, about themselves.

Borrowers are usually optimists.

Our Towns and City Growing: Jones Builds 30 Buildings

America is witnessing a silent revolution. No blood is being shed, but we see a wonderful change taking place in the make-up of our civilization. The silent revolution is from the country to the towns of the nation.

Why? No one knows the answer.

Folks are leaving the farms of America simply because the land does not produce in proportion to the amount of money that city jobs promise. We use the word "promise" advisedly. Sometimes the promises are not fulfilled, especially for a long period of time.

Farming is a long, hard job. So is the life of those within city limits who work at their jobs. What we are trying to say is that it takes about as much time and effort to make a living in town as on the farms of this country.

We just finished reading an interesting short story of the life of Jesse Jones, the financier of Houston. He has built 30 large buildings in that city, and has sold just one of them. In addition he has erected large buildings in Fort Worth, Dallas, Nashville, Tenn., and in New York City. At 81 years he does more work today than his younger and much better trained executives. He is a builder of big buildings.

Of course no one ever expects Canyon to grow into a city the size of Houston, but here we have a steady, constant growth, which excels many of the big towns of this area. Outside capital is looking Canyon over. Options are being taken on building sites with the view of opening new additions to Canyon.

From where do the people come? What are they going to do when they reach Canyon? Where are prices going?

As we stated in the opening paragraph, we are seeing a silent revolution. Like all revolutions, it shall probably result in great good for the largest number of persons.

Forty Year Old Car Is Brought From France For Retirement

The car which carried General John J. Pershing all over France doing World War I has been returned to the United States. The new owner says that he will renovate the car and put it in running condition before retiring it to his farm.

As we read this item, we could not keep from awakening memory of the last and only time that we saw the General and heard him speak. He was reviewing the 79th Division in France following World War I. It was a rainy day. The drummer boys had a tough time as band after band passed in review for General Pershing.

As the last of the Division passed in review, the General invited the crowd to push near his reviewing stand where he talked without the aid of a loud speaker about the war and the future. We do not recall a single word which he said that day, but we were deeply impressed by the informality of the General toward his citizen army, with which he had whipped the Germans.

He left his old Dodge in France and it was sold as war surplus to a Frenchman. The car was driven since that time at frequent intervals. It was still in running order when an American discovered and brought it back to America.

This 40 year old car still has the original American made casings.

All of which goes to prove that the American of today who cannot own a car more than one year without trading it in for a new one is just another chump.

Must Have Red Feather Drive To Settle All of Commotion

The Red Cross has never changed its policy until recently about the United Fund or Red Feather Campaign was put on by so many cities. The Red Cross considered that its organization was over and above such drives for funds.

This year the Red Cross decided that the time had come when it must join hands with the other agencies.

So far Canyon has not sponsored a Red Feather Campaign, but the citizens feel the need of such a united campaign. We have had some sort of a money raising campaign under way for the greater part of 1955.

Not all funds have benefitted by individual drives, and the folks would gladly see one or the other have the bulk of their money.

Whoever heads the first drive in Randall county would have a lot of headaches. It would be hard to devise a system of division of the funds raised, and furthermore it would be a tough job to divide the funds equitably.

We are for one drive; and one alone.

Let's kick in one amount to a central agency, and let the chips fall as they may.

Stray Dogs Will Be Killed in Canyon by Police Officers

Publication is being made in The Canyon News of an ordinance which seeks to dispose of unclaimed dogs. A lot of Canyon persons will be delighted to read of this movement. They say that stray dogs have been molesting their flower beds and shrubs.

It is against the law to shoot dogs, even strays within a city, for fear of hitting an innocent bystander. The ordinance provides that shotguns may be used by officers of the law when the stray dog is not properly tagged and is unvaccinated.

Clearing away the stray dogs is a real service to the people of Canyon.

You can help yourself to longer life if you obey traffic regulations without waiting for a patrolman to catch you.

Personally, we regret to see the nation divide along group or sectional lines, but politics work that way, too often.

ALL ELEVEN

The Britisher was talking of coincidences: "The most amazing thing happened to me at the races. It was the eleventh day of the eleventh month. My boy was 11 that day. We lived in a house numbered eleven, and I arrived on the course at eleven. Later in the day I found that eleven horses were to run in the big race, so I backed the eleventh horse on the card."

"And it won?"

"No. It came in eleventh."

TRAFFIC DEATHS

February recorded the nation's smallest traffic death toll for any month since 1950, when fatalities numbered 2,270. In February, 1950 2,258 were killed on the nation's highways. The traffic death total for the first two months of this year was 5,170—a three per cent drop from the toll of the corresponding period of last year.

'54 FIRE SAFETY AWARDS

Providence, Rhode Island won the grand award of the 1954 national fire safety contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Winners were judged on community fire loss records, quality of fire fighting facilities and educational programs.

James A. Van Fleet, General, U. S. Army (retired), visiting in Korea: "Asian people should take every chance to build up their armed power so that they can meet aggression and infiltration by Communists."

Billy Graham, noted evangelist, now in Scotland: "I don't think the world will be destroyed by the H-bomb. I am sure God will intervene before that will happen."

Jawaharlal Nehru, Prime Minister of India: "Even if the whole world is fighting, we shall not go to war."

FARM PRICES

Farm prices as a whole averaged 86 per cent of parity in mid-March, compared with 87 per cent in February, 90 per cent a year earlier and the record of 123 per cent in October, 1946. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices. The level of prices received by farmers in mid-March was 244 per cent of the 1910-14 base average, compared with 245 per cent in mid-February, 256 per cent in mid-March, 1954, and the high of 313 per cent set in February, 1951.

KIND COUNSEL

"Did you do these problems at home?" asked the teacher.

"Yes," replied the boy in the sixth grade.

"Then," advised the veteran of the blackboard, "you'll have to ask your father not to help you any more; you're beyond where he left off, Harold."

THE DIFFERENCE

Teacher — Johnny, can you tell the class how much difference there is between the words "notorious and "famous?"

Johnny — Offhand I'd say just as much as there is between the smell of limberger cheese and that of a rose.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

I traveled 2,000 miles just to talk 25 minutes. Silly, isn't it?

But, being in Florida for the first time, I decided to look around and here is a little report:

In Coral Gables, a block of mansions of Chinese architecture, bright yellow tiles ornamenting the front; in Miami Springs, founded by Glenn H. Curtiss, the aviation inventor, a majestic hotel which sold for $1—with the understanding that the purchaser would use it for a hospital; and at Miami Beach, those massive hotels, unbelievable in splendor and in numbers. I counted, in a single block, seven on one side of the street and five on the other, all in pastel colors. Miami Beach consists of 22 islands, of which 20 are man-made—that's what the man said, (in this case, the announcer on the sight-seeing bus).

On the tour were a couple from Brazil. He spoke flawless English and when I complimented him, he said he was a graduate of Cornell University.

At Palm Beach, I saw a beach and palms but no Palm Beach suits.

Many Florida towns, instead of a public square, have a public circle.

Near Miami is a tropical grove where you see mango, mahogany and lemon trees, also a tree of the species from which the crown of thorns was made. Nearby, the visitor can obtain a beverage (non-alcoholic) that is a blend of the juices of oranges, lemons, grapefruit and no telling what else—wonderful tasting.

Miami store windows have signs, "Habla espanol aqui" ("Spanish is spoken here") and others in French to the effect that French is spoken there. You can fly from Miami to New York for $35 and, from Key West, a flight to Cuba costs only $10.

Near Miami is a "jungle" where the flamingoes, of delicately-pink plumage, twist their long necks into incredible curves and a man wrestles an alligator. There is also a pit of crocodiles. (An alligator is nearly black; a crocodile is a smoky green.) Also there are peacocks, parrots, monkeys and, now and then, a visiting columnist.

ARMED FORCES DAY

President Eisenhower has designated May 21 as Armed Forces Day, in a proclamation which said the armed forces "have always served as an instrumentality of a free people who cherish peace and security with honor."

In search of gold through every climate run;
From burning heat to freezing torrents go,
And live in all vicissitudes of woes. —Chatterton.

Your Agents May Wreck Your Financial Plans

Suppose that you have hired Johnnie to cut your grass, and he runs your new mower into your neighbor's hedge thereby ruining the hedge. Are you responsible for the damages? Quite likely you are.

Or let us suppose that you find you need some supplies for the evening meal. You ask Johnnie, your neighbor's teen-age son, to take your car and run to the store for them. On the way, Johnnie hits a pedestrian, seriously injuring him. Can you be held responsible? It is possible that you can.

In both instances, Johnnie was acting for you. His acts while performing those duties are, in the eyes of the law, your acts.

You may be liable despite the fact that you may have cautioned him to drive carefully and he did not.

The average individual expects to answer for his own actions. He does not usually consider that he may be responsible for the actions of other persons. That, however, is frequently the case.

You may ask another person to do something for you, that is, to act as your agent. You may pay him, or he may be doing it without compensation.

You may ask him to buy or sell property for you. The action may be to negotiate an agreement for you with a third person.

If representations are made by your agent in performing the task which you assigned to him, you are responsible.

In a like manner, you are responsible for the contract made by him while he was acting for you.

You may be held responsible for the acts of a person who customarily represents you even though he entered into a contract for you without your consent or approval.

For example, you may have a partner in a business, and you and he have agreed that certain contracts shall be made only upon the signature of both of you.

Unknown to you and without your consent, your partner signs such a contract with a third person involving partnership business. If the person with whom this contract is made has no knowledge of the terms of your partnership agreement, you are responsible for the contract which your partner has made.

You may have agreed between you that neither of you would buy, without the other's consent, any items of merchandise costing more than $50. You did not give this information to salesmen who called on you. In your absence on a Thursday afternoon, your partner ordered merchandise for your store costing more than the $50 limit.

When the merchandise is delivered, you cannot refuse to accept it because you can be bound by the contract of your partner. This is true in many situations, and the salesman is not bound by your partnership agreement because you did not advise him of the $50 limitation.

As the actions of your agent are considered to be your actions, you assume the responsibility of his doing them correctly.

HOSPITALITY FIRST

And then there is the well known but shy actor, who dropped into a Broadway restaurant very early the other morning, or very late the other night, any way you want to put it.

He sat at a table and waited—and waited. Three waiters, at a table in the rear, were earnestly playing pinochle. Finally, after long minutes, the proprietor sauntered through and caught the situation at a glance.

"That's how it is!" he roared. "I got three waiters and they can't even wait on one lousy customer."

Mental Disease Is Major Problem

AUSTIN: Mental disorders today represent a major public health problem. Nearly 50 per cent of all hospital beds are occupied by patients with mental illness, declares Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer.

But it is estimated that in addition to these, at least one in ten in the general population is suffering from an emotional illness sufficiently disabling to interfere with work and family life. Both severe and minor mental illness appear to stem from organic causes, psychological causes, or a combination of the two.

Much progress has been made in reducing the amount of mental illness due to organic disorders. At one time, 10% of mental hospital beds in the south were occupied by patients whose mental illness was due to pellagra. Today, with improved understanding of nutrition, such cases are almost unknown.

Fifteen years ago, a large number of mental hospital patients suffered from "general paresis," or central nervous system syphilis. Today, due to strides made in control and prevention of syphilis, less than 2% of mental hospital admissions are patients with general paresis.

Only since World War II have extensive efforts been made in prevention of mental illness due primarily to psychological factors. Much additional research is needed here, as well as with organic factors.

However, recent studies are building up increasing evidence that early childhood experiences are of vast significance in mental health. Children need consistent, warm mothering, especially during their first three years of life. And in our high-speed modern society, they need guidance in the home and in the school in learning to handle their feelings effectively and in building healthy resistance to pressures of daily living.

Just as attention is needed to building strong bodies in children, so is attention needed to building sound minds.

A Tribute To Our Postmen!

When Aunt Hettie, in Boston or Bankok, writes you a letter, a huge piece of governmental machinery goes into action. Ships, trains, trucks and airplanes may be called upon to bring that intimate message to you. When it arrives here, your faithful Postman picks it up, puts it in his weathered leather bag and delivers it personally to your door. He is one of our most important Civic servants. He is chosen for his dependability, his strong legs, his neighborhood familiarity and his eagerness to serve. He knows you, your family, your dog, and is a welcome sight to all! We salute the faithfulness of the Mail Carrier!

Mrs. Roy Reynolds Honored With Shower Friday

Mrs. Roy Reynolds was honored with a miscellaneous shower Friday, April 22, in the home of Mrs. O. A. Smith.

Refreshments consisting of punch, individual cakes and nuts were served from a beautifully appointed table centered with pink Shasta daisies and white stock. Napkins bore the inscription "Lou 'n Roy."

Co-hostesses assisting Mrs. Smith were Mesdames Clem Dugan, Bill Dugan, Roger Dugan, and Charles Wilkinson.

Eighty-five persons called or sent gifts.

GOLDEN EAGLE IS TOPIC OF AUDUBON SOCIETY PROGRAM

"There is no record that the Golden Eagle has ever carried away a lamb or other small farm animal in Texas," said Robert W. Mitchell Monday night as he told of his experiences in photographing and studying these birds along the Caprock of this region.

He went on to say that jack rabbits are the favorite food of these eagles, although many other rodents are eaten by them. As soon as the eaglets are out of the shell the parents bring rabbits to the nest and begin feeding them. The two young grow so slowly that only one clutch of eggs is hatched by a pair of eagles each year, often as early as March with the young then not reaching flight stage until far along in the summer.

"Eagles' nests are always infested with bed bugs," said Mitchell. They are so thick they begin crawling over the photographer before he can even get started on his work."

Mitchell's pictures of the great birds leaving and returning to their nests, and of the young as they grew were enjoyed by members of the Panhandle Audubon Society and guests in the film room of the library of West Texas State College. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. E. R. Moyer of Amarillo, and Joe A. Bailey, president, and Charles Wright, secretary, officiated at the business meeting.

MRS. WM. A. MOORE DISCUSSES TEXAS IN THEATRICAL WORLD

Mrs. William A. Moore in her inimitable, able, and interesting manner discussed "Texas in the Theatrical World" to highlight the meeting of the Sue Hite Club in the Club Room of the Museum on Monday afternoon, April 25.

Mrs. D. M. Foster, president, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. W. E. Miller gave the invocation. Mrs. R. C. Busteed conducted a parliamentary quiz. Mrs. J. O. Parker, president-elect, gave an interesting report on the district meeting of Federated Clubs held recently in Snyder.

At the social hour Mesdames Borden Price and Joe H. Bailey, as hostesses, served cookies and punch to Mesdames John Bowden, Royal Brantley, Hatcher Brown, Busteed, T. V. Crounse, Foster, W. F. Haggard, Virgil Henson, Robert Jarrett, A. G. Kieselbach, Boone McClure.

Mesdames Gene McGlasson, Jr., Miller, Moore, Jerry Newman, Parker, Hud Prichard, Burney Slack, Crannell Tolliver, A. L. Walsh, W. R. Wilson, and Charles Wright.

BAPTIST STUDENT CENTER SETTING FOR CLASS TEA

Spring colors of yellow, green, and white were used to decorate the Baptist Student Center for the Mary Martha Class April tea for new and prospective members. The center of interest on the yellow laid serving table was created by a bowl of lime green punch encircled by a wreath of white lilacs. White tapers and yellow gladiola completed the decorations.

Guests and members were greeted at the door by Mrs. Bill R. Lee and Mrs. Marvin McBroom, class officers, and seated for the program which was comprised of a capable review of the book, "A Man Called Peter" by Mrs. K. E. Frieze.

Following the program, refreshments were served to members and guests by Mrs. Gene Morrison and Mrs. C. J. Hughes.

The following were registered by Mrs. Bill Wilson, who presided over the guest book: Mesdames George Gibson, Nadine Green, Tom Gooch, Ruby Justis, Howard Russell, D. A. Brown, Crawford Ruthart, Tom W. Langston, J. A. Hutto, Morrison, Frieze, Hughes, Lee, McBroom, and Wilson.

ILLUSTRATED DISCUSSION OLD TIME DRESSES WESTSIDE TOPIC

The Westside Home Demonstration Club met April 20 in the home of Mrs. Dick Barrett.

Roll call was answered by the "dress I remember most."

A short business meeting was held. The program consisted of showing old pictures and discussing old time dresses.

There were seven members and two visitors present.

Next meeting will be held May 4 in the home of Mrs. Eugene Zachry.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Coleman of Wichita Falls visited their daughters, Miss Jackie Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Hunter, over the week-end.

District Assembly of Rotary Clubs Monday, Tuesday

Visitors who will be in Canyon Monday night and Tuesday for the District Assembly of Rotary International, will be entertained at a luncheon at the Museum Monday evening at 6 o'clock by the Rotary Anns. Rotary Ann Sallie Nester is in charge of arrangements.

The District Assembly will be held at the Methodist Church Tuesday. All incoming presidents and secretaries will attend from the 38 clubs of the district.

Dr. J. Hoytt Boles, Snod Executive of the Presbyterian Church, was introduced by Rev. Winston Wilbanks as the speaker for Tuesday.

The speaker developed the theme, "You are either the solution, or a part of the problem" which confronts the world today.

So far the world has discovered no leader to bear the problems of the world. The problem may be from any race—White, Black, Yellow, or the citizens of any nation.

There is not enough power today to hold the world together by intolerance for more than a generation. One of these days we shall all come together, in the common cause of peace. "You answer for yourself; and I shall answer for myself," was his final plea.

Truett Hull announced that $163.50 had been added to the Rotary Fund for playground equipment in the new city park.

G. W. Webb was introduced as a new member of the club, under the classification of honorary member.

Visitors were; George Heard and Maurice Howell of Hereford; Richard H. Hill of Joliet, Ill.; Paul Lindsey, Alice Brotherton, Allie Blanton, Lucy Hollabaugh, all of Canyon; E. H. Miller of Snyder; W. O. Rucker of Lubbock; C. E. Moreland of Dallas; Dr. Samuel Johnson of Jackson, Miss.; Ray Dye, Richard Hill, Van H. Allm, E. Kancher, Forrest Barnes, Artis Blanks, Art Jordan, Thurman Whitsitt, Robert Allen, Farris Oden, all of Amarillo.

Group From ROTC To Inspect Fort Sill

A detachment of cadets from the West Texas State College Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit will attend "ROTC Day" activities Friday and Saturday at Fort Sill, according to Col. Raymond H. Lumry, professor of military science and tactics.

The group will be guests of the Army, which provides transportation to Fort Sill in a chartered bus. A tour of the post will be made and demonstrations of aircraft and infantry and artillery weapons will be shown. Among the artillery to be fired is the 280 mm. atomic cannon.

Dr. Walter H. Juniper, dean of WT, will represent the college on the tour, and Col. Lumry and Capt. Garland R. McSpadden will accompany the group.

Making the trip will be Melvin Ault, Allison; Bob Bishop, Lefors; Charles Boren, Kerrick; James R. Broome, Kellerville; Charles S. VARIED PROGRAM PLANNED AAUW TEA FOR GRADUATES

Mrs. Ples Harper will be the speaker next Monday evening, when the American Association of University Women will honor the young women who are graduating from West Texas State College and from the Canyon High School.

The reception which will be formal will be held at Cousins Hall, with arrangements in charge of Mrs. Dan Sanders, Mrs. L. B. Penick and Miss Gladys Armstrong; it will begin at 7:30.

Mrs. Glenn Dowlen will be responsible for the music for the evening and Mrs. Joseph Findley and Mrs. George Blackwell will preside at the refreshment table. Mrs. Lowell Harrison, president of the Canyon Branch, will head the receiving line, and all officers and members will have a part in making the occasion a memorable one for the honored guests.

BARRY McCARTER MOVES

On April 23, Berry McCarter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. B. McCarter, moved his family to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 40 miles up the Hudson River from New York City. Berry resigned the position that he has held for the past ten years with the Naval Ordinance Laboratory of Washington, D. C., to accept employment with International Business Machines Corporation. He will work in the IBM research laboratory where "machines that think" are designed.

Colleges with deficits report a $5,500,000,000 need.

Awards Day For ROTC on May 5

"Awards Day" will be observed May 5 by the West Texas State College Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit when final drill session of the year is held. More than a dozen citations will go to outstanding cadets and units.

The final review is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. on the drill field east of the main campus. Col. Raymond H. Lumry, professor of military science and tactics, has invited the public to attend the ceremonies.

Top trophies to be presented are the President's Trophy, awarded by WT President James P. Cornette to the outstanding fourth-year cadet; the PMS&T Trophy, to the outstanding third-year cadet; the W. E. Lockhart Trophy, given to the best second-year cadet by American Legion Palo Duro Post No. 97, Canyon; and the Martin Allen Dickinson Trophy for the best freshman cadet, given by the Lucius Penick Post No. 5681, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Canyon.

Other awards are presented by the Reserve Officers' Association, Amarillo Chapter, for leadership; the Association of the United States Army, for the most improved advanced student; the Chicago Tribune awards for high scholastic standing in each class; a military history award; ROTC bandsmen award; Rifle Team and Drill Team awards; Marksmanship award; awards citing best drilled cadet, best drilled squads, platoons, and an award for the honor company, presented by Col. T. H. McDonald of Amarillo.

Ensembles Win Two Sweepstakes at WT

Two choral units from Canyon High School won sweepstakes in the ratings in the Interscholastic League music contests at West Texas State last Wednesday.

To win a sweepstakes a contestant must win first rating in sight-reading and first rating in concert singing.

Out of the 14 choirs entered only three sweepstakes were won. An ensemble from Hereford won the third sweepstakes. Out of 8 entries Canyon took 7 firsts and 1 second.

Debra McDonald accompanied by Mrs. H. R. Fulton, Jr., and Emma Joy Gray, accompanied by Fanita Marshall, won firsts in solo.

The sophomore sextet won a first and the senior sextet a second rating. To win a first the rating must be from 1-5.

Miss Ada V. Clark, director of choral work in the high school, says that she is especially proud of the winners this year. Competition was keen; the sight reading unusually difficult, and the judges efficient and alert.

Naomi Hare Will Speak Wednesday

Miss Naomi Hare of Hereford, a missionary to Lima, Peru, will be guest speaker May 4 at 7:30 p. m. at a covered dish dinner at the First Methodist Church.

Miss Hare is now on vacation. She is primary supervisor at Lima High School, a Woman's Society of Christian Service project.

She will show slides of her work as well as talk about it.

Naomi Hare Circle is sponsoring the dinner as an observance of National Family Week as well as acquainting people with Miss Hare and her work.

The nursery will be open. Bring the entire family.

Lowell Harrison To Talk at Slaton

Dr. Lowell Harrison, associate professor of government at West Texas State College, will speak to the Rotary Club in Slaton Tuesday, outlining procedure for sponsoring the visit of a foreign student.

Dr. Harrison, as chairman of a committee for the Canyon Rotary Club, handled arrangements for a two-months visit of Pierre Jacquet, 21-year-old Frenchman, to Canyon last year. The student's stay in America was sponsored by the Canyon club, and his trip to America was arranged through the International Student Fund.

The Slaton club requested Dr. Harrison to explain the program and is considering a similar project in Slaton. The French student stayed in different Rotarians' homes while in Canyon.

Dr. Harrison will speak at a junior-senior banquet at Vega High School May 7.

San Antonio Brass ROTC Inspection

Official Federal Inspection day for the West Texas State College Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit will be Tuesday, when a detachment of officers from Fourth Army Headquarters, San Antonio, visits the campus.

Col. Raymond H. Lumry, professor of military science and tactics, said the group would pay an official visit to President James P. Cornette, visits several military science classes, and inspect facilities.

An inspection in ranks of the cadet corps is slated at 1:30 p. m. on the drill field on the east side of the campus, and a review of the corps will follow the inspection. The public is invited.

Rural Accidents In March Kill 9 Injure 67 More

Nine persons were killed, 67 injured, and property damage amounted to $47,049 in the 95 traffic accidents in rural areas investigated by Texas Highway Patrolmen in the Amarillo district during March. These figures do not include accidents in cities of 2,500 population or more nor accidents investigated by other police agencies.

Sixty-eight of the accidents occurred on state and federal highways, six on farm-to-market roads, ten on county roads, and 11 in small towns with population below 2,500.

The causative factors listed in connection with the accidents are speeding, driving while drinking, miscellaneous hazardous driving violations, failure to grant right-of-way, and improper passing. For the month of February the violations were speeding, driving while drinking, wrong side of road, not in passing, failure to grant right-of-way and miscellaneous hazardous driving violations.

For the month of March, 1954, two persons were killed, 53 injured and property damage amounted to $61,529. In February six persons were killed, 43 injured, and property damage amounted to $58,605. During the first three months of 1955 a total of 20 persons have been killed, 168 injured, and property damage of $173,576 as a result of rural accidents. For this same period of 1954 eight persons were killed, 158 injured, and $221,044 worth of property damage done.

In carrying out their basic duties of traffic law enforcement the 29 patrolmen of the Amarillo district 5, composed of 26 Panhandle counties, made 614 traffic arrests, 251 speeding arrests, and 34 arrests for drinking while driving. They issued 1,737 warnings for hazardous violations, 18 safety responsibility police demand orders and investigated two cases for restoration of drivers license.

Patrolmen worked a total of 4,631 daytime hours and 2,600 night-time hours. In carrying out their duties they drove 75,341 miles. The information was released by Captain J. W. Blackwell of the Texas Highway Patrol.

NOTICE OF BUDGET HEARING

There will be a public hearing on the 1955-1956 City of Canyon Budget, March 28, 1955, at 3:00 p. m. at the City Hall, Canyon, Texas. Hosea Foster, Mayor.

Canyon Girl To Work in Brazil During Summer

Florence Marie Coffee, senior at the University of Texas, has been accepted for the South American Work Camp for the summer of 1955 in Brazil.

Miss Coffee, who is majoring in English and education, is a member of Wesley Foundation. She is secretary of the Forum Speakers Committee of the Texas Union, a member of the executive council of the Future Teachers of America, and a member of the officers' council of Delta Delta Delta social sorority.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Coffee of Canyon.

The work camp, sponsored by the Westminster Student Fellowship at the University of Texas, will begin on July 2. Twenty North American students will participate.

The first South American work camp was held last summer when a group of American students worked with a group of Brazilian students at a Presbyterian orphanage outside of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. They built an apartment house for teachers at the orphanage.

This year two work camps will be held in Brazil. The first will be in the heart of Rio de Janeiro at a social service center maintained by the Methodist Mission. It is near the docks in a poor area of the city. Ten of the 20 Americans will work with Brazilian students to build a wooden house which will serve as a club room, dispensary, and Sunday School for the people of the slum. The other project will be the construction of a church building in a suburb of Recife in northern Brazil.

An average work camp day includes five to seven hours of manual labor, plus workshop, study and discussion. Worship is an important part as is the study and discussion which may include anything from the Bible to international affairs. Living together closely, the group develops a strong sense of community.

After the camps are over, the North American delegates will divide into small groups and visit the mission field to participate in the home, church, and community life of the people to try to overcome some of the distrust and misunderstanding between the North American people and the Brazilians.

The student board of the South American Work Camps is in the process of raising $6000. These funds are badly needed to pay the cost of scholarships to help students attend the work camps. Address of the South American Work Camp Board is 2203 San Antonio, Austin, Texas.

CHILDREN HONOR MRS. BURTZ ON 87TH BIRTHDAY APRIL 17

Sunday, April 17, the children and grandchildren of Mrs. Mary Burtz celebrated her birthday which is April 20 with a delicious covered dish dinner at her home.

The large white and pink birthday cake bearing the inscription "Happy Birthday 1833-1955," was baked by a daughter, Mrs. Earl J. Davis.

Mrs. Burtz was presented with several lovely gifts including a beautiful wrist watch, a joint gift from her children.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Davis and son, Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burtz, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burtz and children, all of Canyon; Mrs. Wade Bailey, Mrs. Don Gaither, Mrs. Tommie Petropoulos and children, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Buron Fewell, Clyde and Dannie of Ropesville; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Matsler and son and Mr. and Mrs. Claud Fewell and Burnard, all of Lubbock; Mrs. Don Sharp and sons of New Home; Mrs. Ancil Shewbert of Dalhart.

An enjoyable time was had at this family get-together.

Sick Lawns Indicate Grubs

COLLEGE STATION: Spotty damage to lawns, or a general unthriftiness for which there is no obvious cause, may be the result of work done by beetle grubs.

Remaining in the soil throughout their larval stage, these grubs feed upon the roots of grasses and other plants. If a sufficient number are present in the lawn, whole root systems are destroyed and the grasses die.

Though lawns may suffer from the ravages of a great many insects, beetle grubs do most damage, and their activity is harder to detect, according to Dr. F. M. Fuller, extension entomologist.

Fuller suggests an easy method of checking for the presence of grubs in the lawn. Cut down on three sides of a square foot of sod, two to three inches deep, with a sharp blade. Then forcing the spade underneath, lay back the foot of sod, using the uncut side as a hinge, and examine for grubs. If six or more grubs are found in this area of soil, the lawn is subject to damage, and some treatment is needed.

Tests so far have shown chlordane to be the most promising insecticide for lawn treatment, Fuller explains, but others include aldrin, DDT, and dieldrin and heptachlor.

All these materials are poisonous and should be handled and applied according to manufacturer's directions. They are available in the form of wettable powders or emulsifiable concentrates that can be mixed with water and used in a sprayer. The dust forms may be applied directly to the lawn.

When treating for grubs it is a good practice to sprinkle the lawn after the insecticide is applied, adds Fuller. This will wash the poison down into the soil where it can reach the insect.

L-199, Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants, available from local Extension Agents, gives full details controlling the white grub as well as other insects.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There is no doubt other day in Congress Rep. Thomas Lane (D., Mass.) hit upon current economic evil when he disclosed recent merger of American Woolens with Robbins and Textron closed three mills in Massachussets idling more than 7,200.

* * *

Rep. Lane pointed out many of these workers had devoted their lives to these mills, will have difficulty finding other employment.

C. W. Harder

* * *

He decried lack of respect for such human factors when corporations keep merging in moves toward monopolies, and called for investigation of trend.

* * *

While no rebuttal appears to his argument, he brought out additional facts which indicate problem has more than one side. Rep. Lane stated since end of World War II, 640 New England textile mills have closed their doors forever.

* * *

Yet it is significant during this same period textile production in England, Japan, other nations increased greatly over their prewar production, and that U. S. imports of textiles are increasing, due to low tariff protections.

* * *

And if present tariff smashing succeeds, textiles are listed as subject to even lower tariffs. In some cases present already low tariff rate will be slashed by as much as 67%.

* * *

Again, it gets down to principle that arithmetic cannot be beaten.

* * *

What Japanese textile monopoly pays a worker for an entire week's work is only equal to about same amount an employer in U. S. textile industry has to pay out as his share of social security and unemployment taxes on his average employee. The average single American textile worker has deducted from his pay check for income taxes as much as his opposite number in Japan receives for an entire month's work.

* * *

It seems odd New England, first section settled in New World, should be first sacrificed to Old World by One Worlders. However, Rep. W. R. Poage (D., Texas) feels that farmers are also bearing brunt.

* * *

He reports average auto worker receives $71.54 per week, steel worker $68.14 per week, school teacher $61.28 and federal employee $60.28. But at bottom of list he finds textile workers with a weekly average of $45.55 and farmers with $39.52.

* * *

Yet, it is planned to further slash tariffs that inadequately protect American farmer.

* * *

For example, it is proposed to slash duty on lard, of which the U. S. has great surplus, by 50%, as well as on lard substitutes, and 50% slashes are planned on turkeys, barleyflour, rice, cherries, raisins, prunes, nuts and lemon juice.

* * *

And government also announces in federal purchases it is no longer necessary for foreign firms to underbid American firms 25% to get business. All they have to do is underbid U. S. firms by mere 6% to get business paid for by American taxes.

* * *

Thus there is great mystification along Potomac. It is believed never before have there been so many planned moves from all directions with purpose of ruining American economy. Observers view happenings with a feeling of unreality such as must have existed when British openly captured and sacked Washington in 1814.

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF CANYON PROVIDING FOR SUMMARY DISPOSAL OF UNLICENSED AND UNVACCINATED DOGS FOUND RUNNING AT LARGE WHICH CANNOT BE CAUGHT, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

WHEREAS, the governing body has determined that dogs running at large whose owners have not complied with the ordinance of the city requiring such dogs to be vaccinated and licensed constitute a menace to the public welfare; and,

WHEREAS, the public welfare requires that whenever hydrophobia occurs or is suspected of occurring within the city, precautionary measures should be taken and that as a precautionary measure it is necessary to catch and dispose of dogs that have not been vaccinated and licensed according to the ordinance of the city; and,

WHEREAS, it is impossible for the persons charged with the responsibility of disposing of such unlicensed and unvaccinated dogs to catch all of such dogs found running at large and it is necessary, therefore, to provide for an effective means of disposing of the unvaccinated and unlicensed dogs found running at large that cannot be caught; now, therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF CANYON:

SECTION 1: It shall be lawful for the Chief of Police of the City of Canyon and/or the sheriff of Randall County, Texas, or any deputy sheriff of Randall County, Texas, to dispose of unlicensed and unvaccinated dogs found running at large in the City of Canyon by shooting such dogs with a shotgun under such circumstances and in such a way as not to risk any danger to life or property in carrying out such shooting. Such officer or officers shall first determine that it is impossible to catch such dog or dogs with the means at their command and if such dog cannot be caught, then the officers named herein are authorized to proceed to dispose of such dog or dogs by the method set out herein. Such officer or officers shall not use any rifle or pistol in disposing of such dogs but are confined to the use of a shotgun.

SECTION 2: The fact that dogs now running at large that are not licensed and vaccinated and that cannot be caught causes a continuing threat of hydrophobia constitutes an emergency and requires that this ordinance be passed as an emergency measure to become effective immediately.

INTRODUCED AND UNANIMOUSLY PASSED as an emergency measure on this 12th day of April, 1955.

Contracts May Be Formal or Not

The word "contract" ordinarily brings to mind a formal, written document signed with pomp and ceremony. The use of that word to describe our daily transactions with the grocer, the plumber, the newspaperboy or the baby sitter would seldom occur to any of us. Yet most contracts arise out of such daily transactions and only a small percentage of the contracts made are even written.

What then is a contract? It is merely an agreement in which two or more persons (or companies or organizations) bind themselves to do or not to do certain acts. Each acquires a right to have the other person keep his promises.

For example, the boy next door asks if he may cut your grass for a dollar. You say, "All right, go ahead." The two of you have entered into a contract whereby he promises to cut your grass and in return you promise to pay him a dollar.

The signing of a sales slip, ordering goods on a charge account in a downtown store, is the formation of a contract, though we seldom refer to it as such.

A few contracts, however, by state law must be in writing in order to bind the parties. For instance, contracts for the transfer of real estate.

It would be impractical for you to require that every contract you enter into be drawn up in written form. However, whenever you are engaged in business transactions of any importance you should insist that all the terms of the agreement be put in writing and signed, because it is often most difficult to prove unwritten agreements.

You will often be requested to sign written contracts, all of parts of which have been prepared by the other party. There are two cardinal rules to apply in such cases:

First, do not sign a contract until you have read and completely understand all of its terms and provisions. Of course, you should never sign a contract on a form which is not completely filled out. Be careful of the person who tries to convince you that these precautions are unnecessary or that there isn't enough time.

Second, before you sign be sure that every important promise or provision to which you have agreed is included. Do not be misled into leaving something out by a wave of the hand and a statement that "Oh, we needn't put that in, it is understood."

Failure to insert some important provision may make the entire contract unenforceable because of vagueness. It may mean that you may not be permitted to prove or enforce that particular important provision not inserted. Or it may mean that the law will imply an agreement on this point contrary to the one actually agreed upon but left out of the contract.

Ham and Chicken Get Along Beautifully in This Casserole

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

BOTH ham and chicken are plentiful and economically priced at this time. So it's the right time to try this tasty combination of the two. It is prepared with economical nonfat dry milk, which provides real milk nourishment without fat. Rich in protein, calcium, riboflavin and lactose, a one-pound package, with a protective foil lining, yields five full quarts of nonfat milk.

Ham and Chicken Casserole (Makes 6 to 8 servings)

One and one-half cups water, ½ cup nonfat dry milk, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ package (¼ pound sharp process cheese slices, cubed), 2 cups cooked rice (⅔ cup uncooked), 1 cup diced cooked ham, 1 cup diced cooked chicken, 1½ cups cooked lima beans, 1 can (3-ounces) mushrooms, drained; 2 tablespoons diced pimento.

Pour water into top of double boiler. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk powder, flour, salt and pepper over surface; add Worcestershire sauce. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Add cheese.

Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Combine remaining ingredients in 2-quart casserole. Pour cheese sauce over mixture; stir until just blended. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.), about 30 minutes, or until mixture begins to bubble.

Ham and Baked Beans (Yield: 12 servings)

Four cups (2 pounds) dried beans, cold water, 2 medium onions, sliced; 4 teaspoons salt, ½ cup catsup, ½ cup unsulphured molasses, 2 tablespoons vinegar, ½ teaspoon Tabasco, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, one 4-pound ham shank.

Wash beans. Cover generously with cold water; soak overnight. Add onions and salt. If necessary, add additional water to cover beans; bring to boiling point in covered saucepan. Simmer 1 hour.

Drain and save 3 cups bean liquid, adding water to make 3 cups if necessary. Mix bean liquid with catsup, unsulphured molasses, vinegar, Tabasco and dry mustard.

Place ham in pan or large earthenware casserole which can be covered. Put beans around ham; add liquid mixture. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1 hour and 20 minutes. Uncover; remove ham.

Remove rind from ham, cut into medium size pieces; reserve. Bake beans uncovered 1 hour and 40 minutes longer.

Add ham pieces during last 30 minutes of baking.

Ham and chicken simmer in harmony in this tasty, economical casserole treat for you.

NEWS LETTER
FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Democracy, Where Art Thou?

In a newsletter sometime ago I pointed out in some detail the reasons why a democratic government did not just happen, but was the result of long and tireless effort and planning in the establishment of basic principles, the violation of which could destroy the very thing sought to be attained.

One of the basic principles upon which a democratic government must rest is the separation of powers between the three branches of government, towit, the legislative, the executive and the judicial. These three branches form the tripod upon which a government by the people must depend in its original formation and in its continued existence.

If at any time the people permit two of these legs of the tripod to become joined together, the balance provided by the tripod is lost. Once that balance is lost, the democratic form of government has fallen. This can happen without violence and without the people even realizing the transition that takes place until there has been a complete change.

The awakening is then very sad, because it comes in the form of a realization by the people that their voice in governmental affairs, if heard, is not heeded. I call this to your attention because of the alarm with which I view the legal gymnastics that the Supreme Court formerly held that laws providing for separate educational facilities for negroes and whites were unconstitutional, but withheld any formal declaration in the form of a judgment until arguments could be heard on behalf of a plan of integration to be announced by the Supreme Court.

The procedure that has been followed by the Supreme Court in this instance is a classic example of the fusing of two legs of the government tripod and the probability of fusing these two with the third. This would mean that the separation of powers and the independence of the three branches of government became a myth and the Supreme Court stepped in as an all-powerful tribunal.

Whether you believe in segregation or integration is not the question. The question is democratic government. If the laws under consideration by the Supreme Court were unconstitutional when written, they were unconstitutional when the Supreme Court so declared them, and are for all purposes null and void.

I disagree with the Supreme Court as to the constitutionality of these laws, but I do not have the same power of enforcement of my opinion as does the Supreme Court. When the Supreme Court stated in effect that these unconstitutional laws will be held in abeyance until a social program could be worked out for integration, in my opinion they committed an act as unconstitutional as they declared the segregation law to be.

They invaded the legislative branch of the government, and if they continue to follow this procedure, must of necessity violate the powers of the executive branch. They also invaded the rights of the states in the same manner. As one southern senator so ably put it, "they discarded their judicial robes and donned the robes of social engineers."

This generation will have the choice of whether or not we reestablish a democratic form of government and rededicate ourselves to the basic principles upon which it stands, or capitulate to the demands of those who want something for nothing and who are whiling to base their arguments on appeals to the emotions rather than to common sense.

The Gas Hearings

The gas hearings continue, and I continue to be more amazed each day at the testimony of groups who have screamed "free enterprise" from the housetops and condemned federal controls and branded everyone a socialist who didn't agree with them. Many of these groups are testifying that gas should be put under federal control, that solemn contract obligations should be wiped out and the price at which gas is sold should be fixed by the Federal Power Commission.

This is advocating centralized government in the worst degree and if such a philosophy was followed, it would be the beginning of the end of states' rights and a new era of centralized federal control of the lives of every individual in this country.

In my opinion it is another attempt to take a natural resource away from the Southwest without paying a fair price therefor. As an example, the testimony shows that gas purchased for seven cents per MCF in Texas is being sold in New York for $2.89 per MCF — over 40 times the price of the gas at the wellhead. Yet the consumers in the metropolitan areas are being told that gas producers in Texas are robbing them. What do you think?

VALOR'S BETTER PART

A jockey in Chicago was asked to fly down and ride in a quarter-horse race in Texas. He refused, and since the offer had a large material inducement, a friend asked him why he wouldn't go.

"Did it once," said the rider, "but no more. I went down to ride a horse at El Paso. On the way from the shed that we used as a jockey room to the saddling paddock, a big Texan stopped me.

"Son," he said, pulling his coat back far enough to show the butt end of a big gun under his arm, "you'd better not win this race. I'm betting a lot of money against you."

"Ten I went over to get on my horse. The owner pulled his coat back the same way and showed a gun just as big.

"Son," he said, "you'd better not lose this one. I'm betting a lot of money on this horse."

"So," said the jockey, "I don't ride no more quarter-horse races."

The listener disliked stories with the ending left out. "What happened?" he asked.

"Oh," said the rider, "I saved myself. I rode a dead heat."

WRONG MOVE

A blazing gun battle had broken up a political meeting in a mountain community notorious for feudin' and fightin.'

"What started the shooting?" asked a visitor from the outside.

"Feller made a motion that was out of order," a graybeard told him.

"Well, it was outrageous and undemocratic to start trouble over that," the outlander fumed. "What was the motion?"

"Toward his hip pocket," the oldster drawled.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who developed the polio vaccine named in his honor, poses with wife, Donna, and their three sons. Among first to receive inoculations during the test run in 1954 the boys are, from left: Jonathan, 5, Peter, 11, and Darrel, 8.

AMMUNITION FOR "V" DAY—Workers at Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, Ind., are among employes of several pharmaceutical houses packaging vials of polio vaccine in anticipation of "V-Day"—vaccination day—which will occur across the nation at times set by separate communities. Children in first and second grades—an age bracket highly susceptible to the disease—will receive the three-shot Salk treatment on a voluntary basis under a program sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Because the supply of vaccine is still limited, only children in certain other specific age groups will be able to receive the shots at this time.

"When you buy and eat wholesome nourishing surplus foods you help the American farmer, the very backbone of our national economy. At the same time you help yourself, since reports show that every American family is paying a sum equivalent to one-tenth of their food bill — one hundred dollars yearly — for government buying and storing of surplus foods. Your purchase and consumption of these food items now is one of the strongest steps you can take as a loyal American to assure the continuance of our present strong national economy. Texas Viewpoint In Washington

By PRICE DANIEL
U. S. Senator

At the National Guard Armory on Saturday night, April 16, Democrats throughout the nation paid tribute to Speaker Sam Rayburn of Bonham, the Texan in Washington who holds the highest office and the longest term of service. The dinner had been scheduled to be held at one of the Washington hotels, but when the acceptances exceeded the 1,400 capacity of the hotel dining room, it was necessary to use a larger hall. There were about 4,000 people present. Among the many speakers was Senator Lyndon Johnson, who paid tribute to Mr. Rayburn on behalf of the Senate.

Former Vice President John Nance Garner of Uvalde had planned to make this the occasion for his first trip to Washington since his time of service here, but had to change his plans at the last moment on the advice of his physician. To state the names of all the Texans present would require more space than this column would permit, but the State was well represented. Prior to the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Burris Jackson of Hillsboro were hosts to the members of the Texas delegation in Congress at a coffee. All in all, it was like Texas Day in the Capital City, although Democrats from every state in the union joined in this high tribute to Speaker Rayburn.

Interior Department Honors Texans

Judge Guy C. Jackson, Jr., of Anahuac and Dr. Walter Prescott Webb of Austin last week were presented the Conservation Award of the Department of the Interior for their contributions to water resources development throughout the nation and particularly in Texas. Secretary of the Interior McKay presented the awards to the two Texans in his office in Washington.

Dr. Webb, professor of history at the University of Texas, is the author of a book, "More Water for Texas," dealing with the water problem and pointing out the role of the Bureau of Reclamation in working toward a solution. Judge Jackson, for many years County Judge of Chambers County, is president of the Texas Water Conservation Association and first vice-president of the National Reclamation Association. He is recognized as an outstanding leader in water resources development in Texas.

Texas Onions

Last week each Senator and Congressman received a small sack of onions grown in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas through the courtesy of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers. A large truck rolled into the grounds of the National Capitol with a sign on the side reading "Texas Onions for Congress," after making the trip from Laredo to Washington. Mrs. Lyndon Johnson and Mrs. Joe Kilgore, dressed in Mexican costumes from the Charro Days celebration in Brownsville, distributed the onions from the steps of the Capitol.

This is the first time that a full truckload of Texas agricultural products has been distributed from the Capitol steps, although many of such products are advertised through placement in the Senate and House dining rooms. Austin Anson of Harlingen was in Washington to assist with the project which was handled by Congressman Joe Kilgore of McAllen.

Prosperous Prospects

Unless Communist China decides to initiate a war soon, every indication here is that the nation will enjoy continued peacetime prosperity in the immediate future. Much of it will be in evidence in Texas, which is still rated as one of the brightest spots in the country for future industrial growth and expansion. The hydrogen and atomic age will witness continued decentralization of industry, and there is no State in the nation which has more to offer in the way of resources, good relations between business and labor, and other attractive environments.

It is only in the agricultural field that prospects are not as bright as we should hope for. Overproduction of crops and livestock, and reduced allotments for farmers, present a problem which must be met by cooperation between the government and those engaged in agricultural pursuits. The biggest need now is to develop markets for our products and to improve price support and allotment programs so long as they are necessary. Congress can be expected to do considerable work in this field, because many members are unhappy with the injustices that are now being felt by farmers and livestock producers throughout the country.

Plenty of Lamb Meat For All

By Mae Belle Smith
Specialist in Consumer Education
Texas Extension Service

The sheep industry in Texas is one of the more important agricultural endeavors, yet lamb consumption is very low. The 1955 lamb crop in Texas and nearby states was more than 4,000,000. Out of this number Texas produced more than half of the total.

There are no reports that show the consumption of lamb in Texas. But here are some interesting figures from Kansas City, New York City and San Francisco. In Kansas City, the consumption of lamb is less than $2 per family per year. In New York City it is as much as $32, and in San Francisco it is as much as $28. The West and East coast people really like lamb.

Lamb has many qualities to recommend it to the consumer. Like other meats, lamb supplies essential food nutrients. It is an excellent source of high quality protein for body building, of iron needed for rich red blood and the B vitamin for growth and health. It has a delicate flavor and is one of the tenderest of all red meats.

Many food shoppers who do not buy lamb say it is because they do not like it. It could be that lamb has never been in their eating pattern and they do not think about buying it. Results of tests made in tasting show that those who say they do not like lamb often cannot tell the difference between roast lamb and roast veal or pork, when all are properly prepared.

Many homemakers are acquainted only with the more expensive lamb cuts such as loin chops, rib chops and leg-o-lamb. Some of the lesser known cuts make delicious inexpensive lamb dishes. The lamb shoulder is one of the most versatile of all the less expensive cuts. It offers many possibilities for meal planning. It can be boned, rolled and stuffed with your favorite dressing or it may be served square cut with the bone in it. Chops can be cut from the shoulder as well as stew meat. Lamb shank is another money saver. Braised and served with a savory sauce it is delicious.

One thing to remember, lamb like all meats should be cooked at low temperature, no matter what method of cooking is used. Searing lamb does not hold in the juice. Just brown it slowly.

Leg of lamb has a paper like covering that is called "fell." Do not remove this. The meat will roast in less time, hold its shape better and be juicer.

Serve lamb either hot or cold. Hot lamb should be served on warm plates. Lamb may be served in combination with various other foods. Lamb and fruits are good teammates. Broiled pineapple slices, baked bananas, or stuffed prunes served with lamb have real appetite appeal.

Lamb is one meat that freezes well. Small lambs, 50 pounds or less dressed weight, have less fat and are usually preferred to large carcasses.

Reddy's Farm Report

FROM THE AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT
SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

The modern ranch and farm has become a place where top production through efficient operation and management is the goal. In increasing numbers, farm and ranch managers are applying electricity to get desired results. Electricity can do for farm production what it has done for industry — produce more for less.

Mr. L. R. "Buck" Miller, of Pampa, Texas, is manager of the Schafer Ranch, and is proud of the savings that his ranch foreman, Ray Roles, is able to realize with his electric farm shop. Mr. Miller is equally proud of the choice Aberdeen Angus cattle that are raised on the ranch.

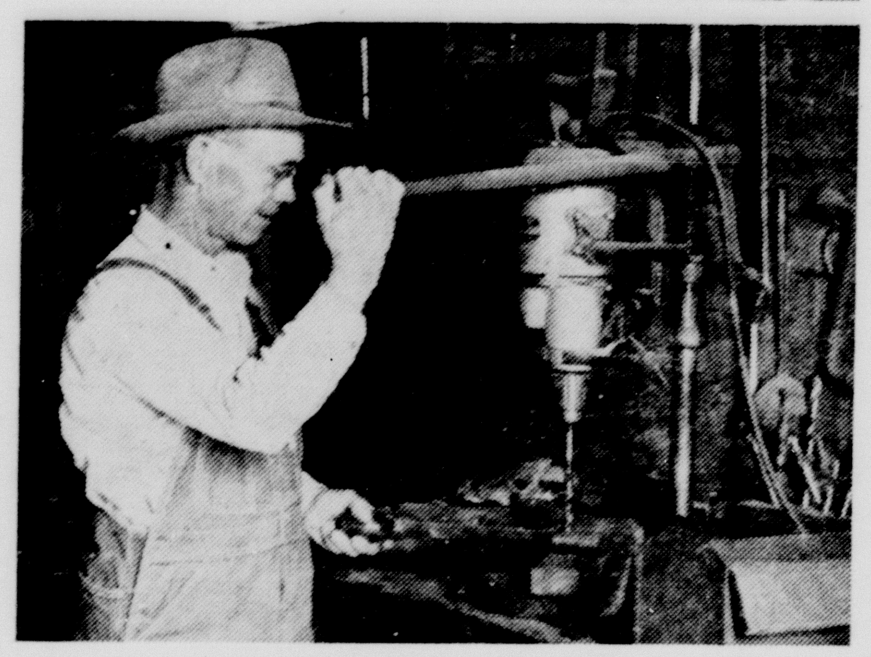
"My shop is a money maker the year round", Mr. Roles explains. "During the summer season we repair machinery on the spot, saving time and money. During the winter months we repair all our machinery and have it ready for the busy season, thereby eliminating costly last minute repairs."

An electric welder, a ¾ hp electric drill, and an electrically operated air compressor comprise the major electric tools in the Schafer Ranch shop. Evidence of this well equipped shop and Mr. Roles' skill is present at every turn on this modern ranch.

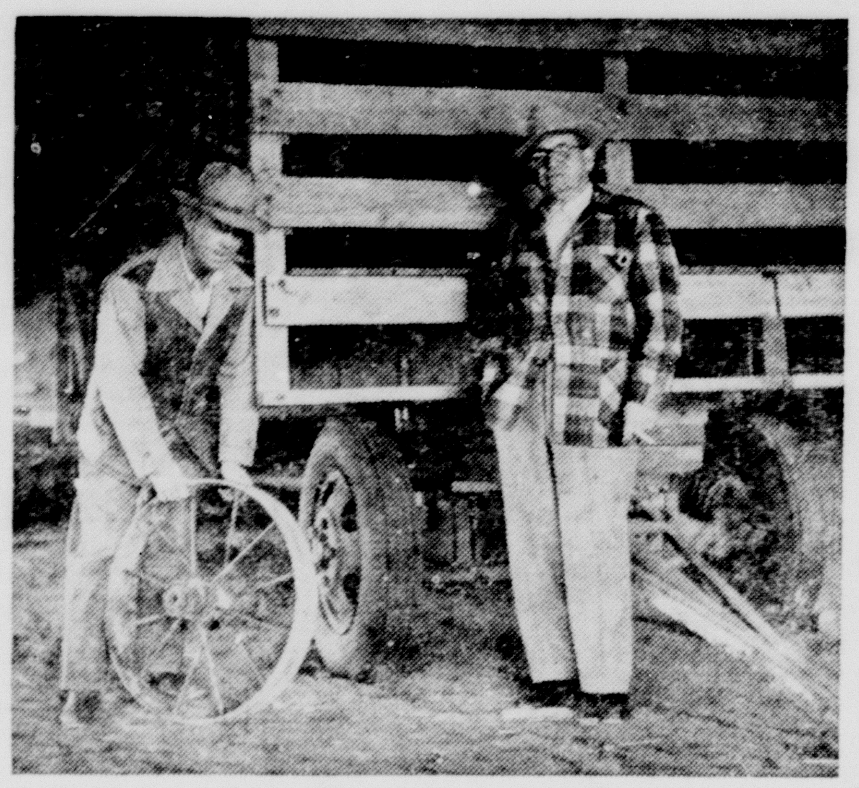
Mr. Roles has used his skill in putting the equipment and buildings at the Schafer Ranch in number one condition. If he needs a piece of equipment, and can't buy it, he builds it. Through the ingenious use of his electric welder and other shop tools, the foreman has built several machines to make the ranch operations more efficient.

A well equipped electric farm shop offers the farm operator the opportunity to cut his repair bills considerably and realize an even greater profit in time saved by making repairs on the spot. Additional profits are realized when all of the farm machinery is put in A-1 condition during the winter months when other work is not pressing. Experience on the Schafer Ranch shows that little time is lost due to repairs during the critical season.

Here is another profitable construction job performed in the Schafer Ranch electric shop. This trailer for the grain elevator makes the unit a handy time saving piece of equipment. Pictured here are Mr. Roles and Marvin Cooper, Southwestern Public Service Company Superintendent for the Pampa area.



This heavy duty electric drill and drill press, plus a good supply of hand tools, plus a good mechanic all add up to make this shop a "money maker". Ray Roles, the ranch foreman, is operating the electric drill.



This modern efficient farm trailer flanked by Mr. Roles and L. R. "Buck" Miller, Schafer Ranch foreman and manager, respectively, was an outmoded farm wagon before Mr. Roles overhauled it in the ranch electric shop. Everywhere you turn on the ranch, equipment has been repaired or improved to make it more useful.

AUSTIN: Tax plans tailspinned in the House before adjournment last week-end.

A tight-running team carried the Stanton Stone "fleas to uranium" omnibus tax compromise. But they threw the ball over the head of the receiver. Net result: The House refused to pass the bill at second reading. It had to be revived for further action.

Some members rebelled because they weren't in on the play.

New compromises, with more players and a less taut rein, however, promised an ultimate tax bill. Members have been talking about $100 million new taxes," and that was just about what the new compromise plan embraced. It would involve face saving all around.

The four-point plan included:

Acceptance of the Stone cut of the gasoline tax to one cent, from two, as originally asked by Governor Allan Shivers. At the same time, one-fourth of its revenue — eight million a year — would be given to cities and counties to buy rights-of-way.

One-cent increase on cigarette tax was kept.

Cut-down levies on beer dealers' licenses voted by the House was accepted, but, in deference to strong group demands, $1 a barrel tax on beer was added.

Natural gas production tax would be frozen at its present 9-cent level. By present law, it would drop to 8 cents in September and 7 cents after Sept. 1, 1956.

As the bill stood when the House refused passage, it would raise forty and one-half million dollars a year. Various changes proposed in the second compromise would push it up to $50 million a year, thus reaching the "$100 million" about which members talked.

There still is talk of a special session, should the regular session not be able to iron out differences on where and how to raise the needed revenue.

Other Bills Pass

While the House walked around the tax issue, a number of non-controversial bills were passed.

Voted by the House was concurrence in Senate amendments to a bill banning "lewd and depraved" comic books.

Also voted was a Senate amendment shortening the "cooling off" period in divorce cases. The House has passed a bill setting the time at 90 days. The Senate made it 60.

Two Senate bills calling for mandatory jail sentences in sex offense convictions involving children were approved by the House.

Final passage was given a bill increasing the length limit of trucks from 45 to 50 feet.

In the Senate, 43 local and uncontested bills were passed.

Probe To Continue

Veterans land investigations will proceed in the Senate, despite bitter objection of some members.

Senator Jimmy Phillips said it would be wrong to stop it because "all parties responsible for the gigantic fraud have not been exposed and named."

Senators Dorsey B. Hardeman and Rudolph A. Weinert contended that the probe has established the pattern of fraud and the time has come for trial of persons indicted.

Voting was 19 to 12 to carry the inquiry through May 10.

Last week was the first in a long time when no new criminal charges or indictments or civil forfeiture suits were filed, involving veterans land.

Submission of additional land bonds has been voted by the Veterans Land Board two-to-one with Attorney General John Ben Shepperd voting no. Hearing has been posted in the Senate on Sen. George Moffett's $100 million bond plan. A $200 million resolution was waiting in the House.

Water Bill Passes

Finally passed by the House was a measure creating the Trinity River Authority.

Water conservation, flood control, and irrigation projects are authorized by the bill which specifically forbids construction of a barge canal between the Gulf of Mexico and the Fort Worth-Dallas area.

Failure was the destiny in the House of a proposed constitutional amendment to finance dams and other water projects.

Voting favored the resolution 78 to 61, but 100 votes are required to submit a constitutional amendment.

Under the defeated proposal, a State Water Commission, with increased authority, would supplant the State Board of Water Engineers.

Tidelands Again

More trouble looms between the federal government and Texas over the tidelands.

Attorney General Shepperd said he had discovered that the U. S. Interior Department and the Department of Justice will oppose Texas' sale of tidelands oil and gas leases May 3.

Congress restored ownership of the tidelands, out to the 10½ mile limit, after the submerged areas had been claimed by the federal government.

Only three miles of the offshore lands were returned to other states.

Now it appears the federal government wants to hold Texas rights to three miles.

Money from sale of the leases goes into the Texas permanent school fund.

House Invites Salk

Commending Dr. Jonas E. Salk highly on his development of the polio vaccine, the House has invited the Michigan doctor to address the Texas Legislature.

Chemical To Be Added to Silage

COLLEGE STATION: Sodium bisulfite, a chemical commonly used to retard spoilage in foods, is being added to grass silage to improve its quality. The chemical checks the bacterial fermentation of silage and results in a bright looking, sweet smelling product.

Texas dairymen who have tried the chemical report favorable results, says R. E. Burleson, extension dairy husbandman. Its use is becoming widespread in states where dairymen depend heavily upon silage for feed.

Success with sodium bisulfite is determined by even distribution throughout the forage and use of the proper amount, eight pounds to a ton of silage. Most farmers add the material from a hopper attached to a field harvester or blower on an upright silo, Burleson says.

Cost of treating will vary from $1 to $1.25 per ton.

Sodium bisulfite does not replace the use of molasses or ground grain, which make silage more palatable and nutritious. The chemical should not be used in combination with either molasses or grain, he adds.

The Senate rejected higher 1955 acreage allotments for cotton and wheat by a vote of 51 to 59 after the farm bloc had enlarged the bill in preliminary balloting.

Britain plans improvements in the port of Gibraltar.

The Army speeds its training plan for 'copter pilots.

State Gives Credit Flame-Proof Buildings

According to an amendment adopted by the State Fire Department, credit of 15% is given to churches and schools which have flameproofed their buildings.

Amarillo school board has flameproofed 17 of its structures at a cost of $36,000.

In an article written by Joe R. Humphreys on the project, it is stated that the greatest loss in case of fire is the long delay necessary in providing other school buildings.

The Texas Outlook published a full account of fire prevention as adopted by the Amarillo schools.

The Eagle's Tale

29th Year Published by The Canyon News for Canyon High School Wednesday, April 27, 1955

Thanks

We students of Canyon High School take this opportunity to thank the citizens of our community for taking a step that should have been taken 25 years ago, developing a park site in Canyon.

This step has been considered and reconsidered, but nothing has ever been done about actually doing something about it. Now the citizens of Canyon have proved once again that we are living in a progressive town. A $60,000 bond issue was voted to cover the cost of swimming pool and landscaping of the park site. These facilities are expected to be ready for use by June 1.

The Canyon Rotary Club has assumed the task of raising $5000 to pay for playground equipment which was not provided for in the bond issue. This club has sponsored a basketball game and a picture show in order to raise the money for the project. The only other means of obtaining this money is from contributions by interested citizens. If you wish to contribute, your contribution by check or in currency may be mailed to Playground Equipment Fund, Canyon, Texas.

We young people feel that this is a big step in the right direction in an effort to have better recreational facilities in Canyon.

You Be A Leader

Are you one of those persons who always shy away when there is a task to be done? If you are, what is the reason for such action? Is it because you do not feel that you are capable to do the job when asked, or does it make you feel conspicuous when you volunteer to do a service for someone?

The ability to be a leader can be achieved by anyone who has just a little confidence in himself. Some people have the idea that if someone else can do the job why bother offering assistance. This negative attitude may eventually lead to a feeling of inferiority, especially if you feel that you are merely a wall flower in your class or organization, and if you consider your ideas unimportant and useless.

A person who takes an aggressive outlook on things can achieve leadership and make others want to take the lead also. Do not be afraid to make suggestions or offer aid in a project, for it will broaden your personality and give you a feeling of self confidence which is important that we undertake to do.

District Session Highlights Season

District 1-A athletic contests held the week before last served Canyon one first, third, and fourth positions in the spring sports.

Charles Joyner and Joe Dickerson, CHS seniors, took the regional bid by swatting their way to first position in tennis doubles.

In golf, Canyon drew a third while track and field events placed fourth. Don Lundegreen and Harley Adams were the only contestants who drew a first place for Canyon.

Don set a district record in the shot put throwing 52 feet 8¾ inches. Adams took first in the 880.

Chorus Groups Receive Honors

Canyon High School chorus groups took high honors at contest last week with seven first place winners and one second place winner.

Third period and fifth period girls choruses snagged sweepstakes by winning first place titles in concert and in sight reading contests.

Debra McDonald and Joy Gray received first ratings in solo contest. The sophomore girls' sextet won first place and the senior girls' sextet got second place in ensemble contests.

As the judging was much more strict this year than in years past, a first place rating is much more rare. The sight-reading contest was more strict in that the choir director was not allowed to sing with the choir, and the groups were required to sing the selection with the accompanist once and a second time without. Heretofore choruses were only asked to sing the music once, having the accompaniment.

Enthusiasm is high among the choruses and they will have something to have a swelled head over. There were 14 choirs entered in the contest last Wednesday, and only three sweepstakes given. Canyon High School choruses received two and Hereford ensemble received one.

Palo Duro Canyon Host For School

Dressed in hiking togs students and faculty boarded buses for the annual school picnic, April 22, at Palo Duro Canyon.

Leaving the buses at the first crossing everyone took to the hills, loafed in the shade, or did as little as possible.

Shortly, tired hikers began to appear at camp and soon formed washer and horseshoe - pitching contests. A dart board was set up and some of the more energetic headed for the softball diamond. Even a game of Canasta was started while several freshmen began a furious water fight in the creek nearby.

At noon a hungry group was served cheese and ham and cheese sandwiches, two bottled drinks, potato chips, pickles, cup cakes, and ice cream.

Approximately the longest hike of the day, a 14 miler, the discovery of a boulder used for corn-grinding by Indians, and a laughable card game introduced by Coach Briggs characterized some of the events of a grimy, but happy day at Palo Duro.

Band Competes For Sweepstakes

The Canyon High School Band attended a clinic Tuesday, April 26, in preparation for the Interscholastic League contest Thursday, April 28.

Under the direction of M. J. Newman, director of the Buffalo Band, the band worked out passages of three compositions and marching maneuvers during the clinic. The selections are: "American Folk Rhapsody" by Grundman, "Overture in Classical Style" by Carter, and "Inverargill" by Lithgow. These compositions will be played in the concert part of the contest at 1:50 p. m. in the Administration Building auditorium. Judging will be based on overall playing ability.

Following the concert, the band will sight-read. The students will not have seen the march or the overture, but they must play the rhythms and notes accurately, watching dynamics.

Marching is the last event in the contest that the band will enter. Performing for the judges at 9:15 p. m. in Buffalo Stadium, the organization must do all required maneuvers, which are right oblique, columns left and right and decrease and increase front.

To be a sweepstakes winner, the band must make a first division in all three events, concert, sight-reading, and marching.

Norris Samuelson, student director, will direct the band playing "American Folk Rhapsody." The student director contest will immediately follow the sight-reading contest.

Five twirling soloists and one ensemble are entered in the twirling contest at 9 a. m. at WTSC's band hall. Soloists are La Verne Riley, Florence Clement, Christina Sikes, Martha Quillen, and Maxine Greene. The ensemble is composed of La Verne and Maxine.

Students Amend SFC Constitution; Senior Slave Auction Is Announced

As a result of the study of the school constitution by the Student-Faculty Congress, amendments were presented to the student body on April 21 for adoption in an assembly.

Amendments Adopted

Presiding was Jimmy Golden, student body president. Charles Neblett read the proposed three amendments to Article I, Section I, that deals with membership in the SFC; Article II, Section 2, that deals with the organization of the SFC; and Article IV, Section 2, that deals with the oath of office. All three were accepted.

The committee responsible for the amendments was composed of Charles Neblett, chairman, Katy Devenport, and Theresa Mickey. Ray C. Wells is the SFC sponsor.

Classes are to meet as soon as possible for the purpose of electing delegates for next year in accordance with the new amendments.

Hull Reports on Park

$5,000 is needed for playground equipment in addition to the $60,000 bond issue voted on by Canyon voters previously, according to Mr. Truett Hull, Rotary Club member, in his report given in the assembly.

Mr. Hull announced that there would be a show, "Shane," at the Varsity on Saturday, April 23, to help secure funds for the park equipment and that entrance fees would be contributions of any amount. Plans are to open the park June 1.

Slave Day Announced

"Lower classmen, here's your chance to get revenge on the dignified seniors . . . participate in slave day." This statement by Hubert Green, SFC vice-president, was an announcement of the slave day to be held on May 4. On May 3 seniors will be auctioned off to lower classmen, and on the following day, the senior slaves must submit to wishes of the "masters." Proceeds will go to the SFC fund.

WORDS OF WISDOM

A man, after admiring a new-model car in the window of a downtown automobile concern, went inside and bought the car.

"Would you like to take it with you now?" the salesman beamed at him.

"No," murmured the man reflectively. "I think I'll just let it stay where it is. I'll never find another parking place this good."

Don't forget MOTHER on HER DAY, Sunday, May 8. Appropriate gifts and cards at WARWICK'S. 312

Dry Assembly To Be Presented

You can't judge a book by its cover or a person by his name for that matter; both may have plenty of rich adventure stories to tell. Such is the case of Captain Paul W. Dry, a former merchant marine who will present a southern assembly program in the auditorium on May 2.

The captain has had plenty of experiences that have been anything but dry. For 16 years he sailed the high seas with the merchant marines and during those years saw most of the world, sailed on every ocean, visited 54 countries, made five complete trips around the world and logged over a million miles of ocean journeying.

In his program, Captain Dry will tell of his adventures and display trademarks of his vocation among which will be mounted flying fish, a portable radio transmitter that sent out the SOS signal and will be used on stage, a ship cock that strikes that "bells of the sea," and parachute flares and a distress gun.

The captain was master of oil tankers delivering cargoes to all fronts. Since that date of departing from the exciting rolling seas, Captain Dry has presented over 1,000 programs to schools, colleges and churches.

Student of the Week

J. F. Devin, or J. R. as he is known around school, is a past member of the choir and junior and senior ensembles. As a speech student JR has participated in several class plays and has had a part in the CHS Interscholastic play. As a hobby, JR enjoys woodworking. Having completed a cedar chest, he is engaged at present, in the construction of a bed. In the future JR intends to study at Abilene Christian College and enter either the ministry or electronics.

Agnes Measamer, better known as Chick-a-Dee, is an active tennis fan who enjoys sports as a hobby.

Agnes belongs to FTA, FHA, and the National Honor Society, and also is a member of the choir.

After graduation she intends to study at West Texas State and secretarial work.

Bruce Ranson has for an ambition to travel around the world. A two year member of FTA and a one year member of the Art Club, Bruce plays the organ for a hobby.

To study business at West Texas is Bruce's interest for the future. His favorite person in high school is Mrs. Sanders and his pet peeve is women drivers.

"LOVE THY NEIGHBOR"

A man was justifiably proud of his lawn until one year a heavy crop of dandelions appeared. He tried everything imaginable in an effort to get rid of them, but without success.

Finally in desperation he wrote to an agricultural college, listing the remedies he had tried, and concluding with the appeal: "What shall I do now?"

Several weeks later he received this reply: "We suggest that you learn to love them."

U. S. EMPLOYEE ROLL

The number of civilian Government employees totaled 2,353,900 in February, an increase of 312 over January of this year. The increase was attributed to seasonal employment in the Treasury and Interior Departments.

Canyon Enters Regional Contest

Strong winds and blowing dust hindered Interscholastic League contestants at the annual meet at Lubbock last Friday and Saturday on the Texas Tech campus. Canyon had entries in the track, tennis, journalism, and shorthand contests.

Don Lundergreen paced the track team, winning first in the shot put with a 49 foot 6 inch toss. Harley Adams won third in the 880 yard run. Charles Neblett qualified for the finals in the 180 yard low hurdles but did not place. Charles did not qualify in the 120 yard high hurdles. Elston Burkham did not qualify in either the shot or the discus.

In the tennis division, Joe Dickerson and Charles Joyner beat Crain in boys doubles. Kermit beat them in the semi-finals, 6-1, 10-8. Kermit went on to win the regional title.

Dovie Keene placed third in the editorial division of the journalism contest. David Miller placed third in the headline writing division. Neither of the two placed in the news writing, feature writing, or copyreading divisions.

Bettie Glanton did not place in the shorthand contest.

Canyon Delegation of Nine Attends State Future Homemaker Convention

Filled with high anticipation and eagerness, nine Canyon Future Homemakers of America members and sponsors boarded a chartered train at the Burlington Depot in Amarillo on Wednesday, April 21, and journeyed to Galveston to the State FHA convention held April 22-23. One hundred and one other FHA delegates were picked up along the route from Amarillo to Dallas.

Five Canyon FHA girls were among the 290 other members who received state degrees, the highest honor bestowed on FHA members. As a symbol of this achievement, they are entitled to wear miniature burning torches which challenges them to continue serving as guiding lights. Jackie Reeves, second vice-president from Amarillo, conferred the degrees on 65 girls from Area I.

Civil defense, a chapter project on a state-wide basis, was another program topic. Marcus Robinson, Area I Civil Defense chairman, was recognized from the stage before the assembly.

"As a man thinketh so is he" is a scripture quoted by Dr. Walter K. Kere, pastor of the Tyler Methodist Church. With this scripture as a center, Dr. Kere developed an inspirational talk in accordance with the convention theme, "Peaceful Thinking-Peaceful Living." Dr. Kere said that an individual must be mentally peaceful in order to lead a peaceful life.

An added feature of the meeting was a speech given by Miss Lois Oliver, assistant national FHA advisor. Miss Oliver's topic was "Ten and Then." She told of the progress FHA has made in the years since it was founded. April 23 marked the tenth anniversary of FHA. At present the national FHA organization boasts a 408,077 enrollment. Texas chapters make up one-tenth of the total.

To create interest among the 4,000 girls, one boy was in attendance. David Risininger, state FFA president from Ferris, Texas, appeared before the group on behalf of the 4,000 Texas FFA boys.

Jane Cagle, state FHA president from Comanche, Texas, assisted by other state officers, presided. Before the convention adjourned, new state officers were elected and installed. Cathy White, student of Lubbock High School, is incoming officer representing Area I.

On Friday evening after the group fish fry, FHA members marveled at the varied program entitled "Living Is Fun." Five areas presented programs portraying enjoyable living as an individual, as a family, as a chapter, as a community, and as a school.

Other attractions of the trip were boat rides, city tours, swimming, miniature golf games, shopping, and roller coaster excursions.

Girls representing the Canyon FHA chapter include Marcus Robinson, Janis Wright, Nancy Tomlinson, Virginia Leake, Alby Kuehler, and Diane Prichard. Sponsors accompanying the group were Mrs. Roy Lyles, CHS homemaking teacher, and Mrs. Iverson Leake, and Mrs. E. H. Wright, mothers.

Alfred M. Gruenther, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe: "The unity of service developed among the Atlantic Pact nations during the last years will enable us to march forward confidently toward our goal of building a defense strength for peace."

Safety Talk to Bicycle Riders

"Luck runs out, but safety is good for life," E. C. McFadden of Dallas, Texas Safety Association, told Texas bicycle riders today.

Mr. McFadden spoke in connection with the child pedestrian and bicycle safety program being sponsored state-wide this month by his organization and the State Department of Public Safety in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"The phrase, 'Safety is good for life,' has a double meaning," Mr. McFadden said. "First, safety never becomes useless or obsolete — it lasts a lifetime. And second, practicing safety can mean the difference between life and death to bicyclists."

"National Safety Council statistics for 1953," he said, "show that 360 bicycle riders under the age of 15 were killed in motor vehicle accidents. About 26,000 bicyclists in the same age group were injured. Of those killed, half were riding in cities, and half in rural areas.

"It doesn't seem possible to overemphasize the serious threat to life and limb that bicycle riding can be to those who are reckless or careless," Mr. McFadden said.

He listed eight rules for safe riding. They are:

1. Ride with traffic, and keep to the far right.
2. Do not weave or stunt. Ride in a straight line.
3. When with friends, ride in single file.
4. Put books and packages in a carrier attached to the bicycle, and never carry passengers on your bike.
5. In traffic, obey all applicable signs, signals and traffic laws.
6. Never hitch on to a passing truck, street car, automobile or any vehicle.
7. If you must ride at night, have a good light and rear reflector.
8. Keep your bicycle in good condition.

Canyon Public School Choirs Give Festival

Massed choirs of the Canyon Public Schools gave a choral festival Tuesday evening, April 19, in the auditorium of West Texas State College at 7:30 o'clock. This festival was the culminating activity of a Choral Clinic conducted by Royal Brantley, head of the voice department of West Texas State. Sixth grades of both West Texas Elementary and Canyon Grade Schools, the Junior High Choir of W.T.E., and the two high school choirs participated in the festival.

These groups, en masse, directed by Mr. Brantley, was one of the finest choirs that music lovers in Canyon have been privileged to hear.

Mrs. Hope Rusk, director of W.T.E. Sixth Grade and Junior High choirs; Mrs. Glenn Dowlen, director of Canyon Grade School Sixth Grade; and Miss Ada V. Clark as instructor of music in Canyon High School and director of the high school choirs, are to be commended on their excellent contribution to the community and for having created such student interest in good music.

Accompanists for the evening program were Fanita Marshall, Diane Prichard, Suzanne Lemons, Alice Simms, Mrs. Houston Bright, and Mrs. Glenn Dowlen.

Numbers included in the program were: "Morning Star of Liberty" by Vanderpool; "Sing Along," by Penn, sung by Canyon School Chorus, directed by Mr. Brantley.

"The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," by Gain; "The Green Cathedral," by Hahn; and "Allelluia," by Bach-Rogers, sung by Junior High Chorus, Mrs. Rusk directing.

"Prayer" by Pelish-Malin, "Comfort Ye, My People" by Bach-Aufdemberge and "O Mary, Don't You Weep" by Wilson, sung by high school fifth period chorus, directed by Miss Clark.

"Ah Lovely Meadows," Czech folk song, and "Sailing" by Marke, sung by full sixth grade chorus directed by Mrs. Rusk and Mrs. Dowlen.

"How Like Unto a Flower" by Schumann-Gain, "Come, Holy Spirit" by Bach-Luvass, "Music When Soft Voices Die" by Wood, sung by high school third period chorus directed by Miss Clark.

"Hosanna" by Granier, sung by high school third and fifth period chorus, directed by Mr. Brantley.

"Charletown" by Bryan, "Land of Hope and Glory" by Elgar, sung by junior high school and high school chorus directed by Mr. Brantley.

E. R. Reeves, principal of W.T.E. was master of ceremonies for the festival.

The formation of a special eight-man citizens' panel to help develop peaceful atomic uses has been announced by the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

The Commerce Department has reported that more than 40 per cent of American families have incomes exceeding $5,000 a year.

Livestock men are learning something new about their cattle.

They are finding that internal parasites can cause a terrific economic loss when beef is marketed.

Internal parasites have not always been considered a big threat by beef cattle producers but recent research indicates that cattlemen, just like sheep producers, have their profits cut every year as a result of internal infestations.

Great results have been obtained in internal parasite control through the use of small amounts of phenothiazine in livestock feeds.

"Low level feeding," the researchers call it. Excellent results have been obtained in the Southeast where the danger is greater than it is here in the Southwest.

Many Southwestern producers also report good results, and feed manufacturers and livestock medical supply houses are featuring this program.

A Kansas State College entomologist has come up with a new product which will mean much to farmers who store grain on their farms.

Five years of research conducted by Donald A. Wilbur has produced a protectant which may supply the answer to grain infestation at the farm level.

The protectant is a wet spray, applied at the rate of two gallons to each thousand bushels of wheat. Cost to the farmer is about 2½ cents per bushel.

Watch for the Texas Beef Council's prize winning beef recipes to be served in your local restaurants. The Texas Restaurant Association is making these recipes available to its members, and participating restaurants will be able to give copies of the recipes to patrons.

A pair of Jim Hogg County ranchers have pretty good proof that brush control pays off.

The Benavides Brothers sold a truckload of calves out of a 1,900-acre pasture where they had controlled the brush. The 43 calves sold for $3,996 or $92.93 a head. They still have another 110 head of cows and seven bulls in the pasture, spent no money for supplemental feed during the winter and still have green grass.

Another pasture in the county in which the brush wasn't controlled sold 15 calves for $1,092 or $82.80 per head. They had been creep fed and the cows received 15 to 20 pounds of hay a day. This pasture received four more inches of rain than did the Benavides pasture.

Four young Texans are due congratulations for outstanding 4-H Club work. They have been selected to attend the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington June 15-22.

Representing the state at this top event of the year for rural youth will be Tommy Elledge of Mabank, Margie Sellers of Cooke County, Nancy Jo Adrian of Coleman County, and Roy J. Millhoan of Potter County.

Rheumatic Fever Fight Progresses

AUSTIN: The outlook in the fight against rheumatic fever has improved, but this disease, which begins most often between the ages of five and 15, still results in serious heart damage in many cases, declared Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer.

Rheumatic fever usually strikes after a nose and throat infection caused by germs of the streptococcus family. An average of three out of one hundred of the commonly called "strep" infections are followed by rheumatic fever.

Sulfonamide and penicillin usually can overcome the infection. But if rheumatic fever develops, strict bed rest is the first resort to ease the load on the heart and to help the patient avoid added infection.

Sometimes sulpha or penicillin may be given to the convalescing patient to help avoid a recurrence of the disease. Repeated attacks of rheumatic fever are more likely to lead to heart damage.

The rheumatic heart condition can involve damage to one or more of the four valves of the heart or to the heart muscle itself. Rheumatic fever inflames the valves and muscles and when the inflamation subsides, it usually leaves a scar.

In about two out of three cases this fever leaves no heart damage, or causes so little injury that the victim can regain active, everyday living. In other cases, modern surgery may help.

No matter how slight an attack of rheumatic fever may seem, the first and most important thing to do is to follow your doctor's advice to the letter.

In the beauty parlor the other day we saw a bouncy little girl of three in a blue-checked frock. Her mother and five-year-old sister were getting their hair done. She sat quietly for awhile, then began to squirm. Her mother, with what seemed unnecessary firmness, told her to keep her shoes out of the chair or she'd be spanked. The little one, pouting and hurt, returned to her chair.

Soon she sensed our sympathy and began to play on it. She launched into a fascinating story about "the packing box" which they had opened the day before, describing dress after dress that had emerged from it. As she talked she arched her eyes, turned her pretty little head, and sometimes embroidered the facts. Everyone in the shop was laughing at her antics. The mother, who at first had appeared cruel, was evidently doing a good job at keeping in hand a natural flirt.

Our neighbor's granddaughter, who comes over often, is a charmer too. Her father is away from home some and she has learned to play him against her mother when he returns. Withholding a decision already handed down, she'll innocently ask for and get his permission to do something. She uses the same technique with grandmother against mama, with the baby-sitter against grandmother, with us against the baby-sitter. She's a minx, and most of us happily play into her little game — creating a problem for parents who are trying to do a good job.

Almost every grown person is a ham grandparent at heart. We like to enjoy cute children without the day-in-day-out responsibility for bringing them up. But if we've got an ounce of fairness in us, we'll resist their instinctive cunning at making us traitors to the parents who've got to transform them somehow into people instead of toys.

Piano Recital to Be Given Friday

ALICE SIMMS

Alice Simms, student of Mrs. Ples Harper, will present her senior piano recital April 29 at 8 p.m. in Mrs. Harper's studio, Canyon High School.

Her program will include: "Bach Two Part Invention 1; Beethoven Sonato Op. 79; "Presto Alla Tedesco, Andante and Vivace;" "Clair de Lune" by Debussy; "Scarf Dance," Chaminade; and "Polichinelle," Rachmaninoff.

In the concluding section of the recital with Mrs. Harper at the second piano will be: "Sheep May Safely Graze," by Bach; "Romance from Serenade No. 7," by Mozart; and "Fiesta," Chenoworth.

Assisting Alice will be the girls senior ensemble and sophomore ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Ada V. Clark.

An active senior in high school, Alice is a member of FTA, FHA, and NHS. She maintains an active interest in music not only playing the piano but participating in choir and collecting a selection of popular songs.

Dr. James P. Cornette will speak to the Rotary Club in Littlefield Thursday at the club's regular luncheon. Featured for the program will be observance of a rural-urban guest day, with Rotarians inviting farmers of the area.

University of Texas Man To Be Speaker; Faculty Recital Sunday

Keynote speaker for West Texas State College's first "Festival of the Arts" will be Dr. E. William Doty, dean of the University of Texas college of fine arts. He will speak Saturday at a dinner which launches a week of music, art and drama activities to which the public is invited.

Slated Sunday at 4 p. m. is a recital by two WT faculty members, Miss Matilda Gaume, pianist, and Royal Brantley, baritone. The program is in the Administration Building auditorium, and will feature works of contemporary composers. A reception for festival guests is slated at 5 p. m. in the WT library, where art exhibitions are to open.

The festival dinner Saturday night is at 7:30, and reservations may be made for $1.50 with Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the art department.

Scheduled Monday is a student solo and ensemble recital at 4:30 p. m. in Room 104 Administration Building, and a joint concert by the A Cappella Choir and Concert Band at 8 p. m. in the auditorium.

Last feature of the festival is the production of "The Importance of Being Earnest" in the Branding Iron Theatre at 8:15 p. m. May 3-5.

A native of Michigan, Dr. Doty has been dean at Texas since 1938. He was formerly assistant professor of organ and theory and assistant conductor of the University Choral Club at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Doty attended Western State Teachers College and the University of Michigan, receiving the bachelor's degree in education and music, the master's and doctor's degrees in philosophy. He has also attended the University of Leipzig and Leipzig Landeskonservatorium, where he studied under Karl Straube.

He began teaching in Lansing, Mich., and has taught at the University of Illinois and University of Michigan. He gave 19 concerts at Michigan, where he was organist in 1934 for the famous Michigan May Festival. He has appeared as guest soloist with the Chicago Symphony, and in concert before numerous college and university audiences.

DEAN E. W. DOTY

Dr. Doty is composer of numerous pieces for the organ, and since he has been in Texas, he has dedicated organs in a number of churches.

Art exhibits to be shown during the week festival are to be hung in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, the college library and the cafeteria. A student crafts exhibit will be on display at the Sternenberg Lumber Company in Canyon.

A number of traveling exhibits have been hung, and works by alumni of WT and members of the art faculty will be displayed. One exhibit will be a "one-man show" by Marvin Moon, senior from Perryton.

The United Church Women of Canyon will hold their regular May Fellowship Day in the Christian Church May 6th, at 11 o'clock a.m. Mrs. George Hill is president, and Mrs. W. A. Miller will be in charge of the program.

The meeting will open with a business meeting at 11 a. m. A covered dish luncheon will be served at 12 noon and the program will begin at 1 p. m.

The program for this meeting is "The Responsible Christian Family."

A panel—"What makes a Responsible Christian Family?" will be given. Mrs. J. D. Barker will be moderator. Rev. Winston Wilbanks will discuss "The Family Development of Spiritual Life." Mrs. E. A. Michael will discuss "Achieving a Mature Life Within the Family;" Lawrence Brotherton, "Family and Community Affecting Each Other;" Mrs. M. J. Morris, "The Family Facing World Responsibility."

All Churches are urged to come and take part in this Fellowship Day when we unite all church women within the community in bonds of friendship and love.

More than ever, our church and national leaders are recognizing the significance of the family in the life of our country. Christian family living is basic to our religious faith and our lack of it today conditions our moral and spiritual attitudes.

Dr. Trueblood tells us scientists have established two facts:

1. The foundation of the structure of the human personality is laid down in early childhood.
2. The chief engineer in charge of the construction is the family.

The United Church Women believing in the family, would like to help build responsible Christian families in our community.

Boyce House tells of a Texan who was filling out his draft forms in World War II. In answer to the question, "Who will always know where you are?" he wrote, "The Okay Finance Company."

Right now the stray dogs of Canyon are a real menace to flowers and vegetables just coming up and the action taken by the City Commissioners is welcomed by all who are trying to beautify their yards. No one wants to hurt a child's pet dog, but if that dog is allowed to run free he becomes more than a nuisance to many people.

Maybe the fruit isn't all killed. Mrs. M. H. Rockwell says she had peach trees in bloom when we had that 13 degree weather and they have peaches on them and that her plum trees have plums on them.

Dr. Leta N. Boswell has a pretty spot in her front yard. She planted jonquils and tulips in front of her shrubbery and they have been lovely.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mack have a beautiful forsythia in bloom at their home. It is a new variety and has more blooms than the usual variety.

Mrs. Ples Harper says that when they lived in Peru the geraniums bloomed so profusely that whenever a danger sign was needed on the highways or streets that instead of putting up a red light they put up a huge bouquet of red geranium blooms!!

History was made last week when the children of the first and second grades of Canyon and the whole U. S. lined up and took the Salk vaccine for polio. Doctors and nurses gave their time and the teachers of these grades are to be commended for the VERY excellent training they had given the children. These little children marched up like soldiers, baring their arms to the needle which it is believed will rid the world of one of its most dreaded diseases. Someone has said that the world marches forward on the feet of little children. It did here.

A lovely gift to the Library was the gift of the late Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Wilson's books, given by Mrs. Wilson's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Walker.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilson came to Canyin in 1903 and he was one of the first doctors in the pioneer days of Canyon. They were lovely, gracious people who added much to the culture of Canyon and this gift of their books is a fitting memorial to them.

There is much talk today about driver education for youth in the high schools. Canyon High School has been teaching Driver Education Training for the past five years. Two classes are taught each year. One each semester of 18 weeks. The students enrolled in these classes have to have 30 hours of classroom work in theory, safety practices, and road courtesy, and have to pass a written test in these subjects before they can take the course in actual driving.

In this course the instructor strives to improve the students' attitude toward driving.

Stevenson Pontiac has furnished a car for this course each year. This car is changed every time a new model comes out, and Stevenson's allow the car to be used for Administrative purposes.

After the student has passed his tests and is ready to drive the instructor, who is Sidney Burgess, sits beside the student in the car which is equipped with dual control. This allows him to take over control of the car any time from the student.

Credit is given on this course, but it is not compulsory, and Mr. Burgess says it will never be as effective as it should be until it is compulsory.

The course at present is limited to those who do not have their driver licenses.

The course was started and today has the full support of the Texas Department of Public Safety and the Insurance Companies.

The following figures are given taken from a group of students picked at random. Out of 1100 untrained and trained students the trained had 5% arrested, the untrained 24% arrested. In accidents the trained had 5% accidents, the untrained 22%. Warnings 9% of the trained, 31% of the untrained.

Work is being done to have the course compulsory and these figures plainly show the value of the course.

Dan Sanders has returned home from the hospital and is recovering nicely from his recent surgery.

Wind and weather took their toll of my fence and it all but fell down in one of our unusual windstorms. E. D. Walker was tearing it down last Monday when Dennis Haley came along. I asked him if he wanted to help tear down the fence. "Oh Boy!" he said, "Where's a hammer?" and with that he was at work. No sooner had he started when Arthur Haley and Johnny Sikes came by, dropped their school books, and Arthur ran home at top speed to get a couple of hammers. He was no more than back when Elo Myers came along, and he ran home at top speed for a hammer. Eddie Pettitt came by, it was too far for him to go home for a hammer and he started pulling out the posts. You never saw boys having a better time and the fence was down in a flash. Over 100 feet of fence. Then they started pulling out the nails and planning what they would do with the boards. Much building was planned, but mostly the boards were used to enlarge the fort these boys have built in my back yard. Curtis Dale Mobley had the chicken pox so had to watch the fun from his window. Once he called out: "I'm having as much fun as you boys, and I'm not working." If the boys heard him it did not slow them down. Mrs. Rigsby, Mrs. Mobley, Mrs. Brasher and Mrs. Haley all gathered around to watch the fun. A few flowers fell in the melee. The whole thing convinced me that boys like to work and that it is a shame that the modern household does not provide some kind of task for boys.

Mrs. Renna Bellah underwent surgery and is home and able to be about some.

On Saturday Curtis Dale Mobley found a live possum in their garage. He saw its tail sticking out from underneath a platform and thought it was a snake, called his father, and when they raised the platform found it was a possum, and that caused still more excitement in our neighborhood. Mobley's have penned the possum and now a still diffent pet has been added to Curtis Dale's collection.

Mrs. George Dudley Moore who lives northwest of town had an unusual experience. She saw some hay her son, Dr. Dudley Moore, Jr., had bought was blowing away in one of our recent unusual windstorms and thought she would put a piece of corrugated iron on the hay to keep it from blowing.

She did not realize the strength of a Panhandle wind. When she picked up the piece of iron the wind seized it and whirled the sheet and her around and around. She could not let go and at last the wind threw her down, she thinks the sheet passed over her, anyway, in throwing her down, her arm was broken and she is in Neblett Hospital. Mrs. Moore had just returned from a month's trip to Houston and Florida. While in Florida she met the Knightons just before Tom had his heart attack.

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Bellah looked mighty pretty lying in bed and both seemed to be enjoying themselves. At least they have escaped the dust storms.

Mr. and Mrs. Raby Wallen and children, Louvena, four years old, Daniel, 3 years old, and Lavonne, 8 months, from Pettus, Texas, are visiting Mrs. Wallen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rhome Mobley and Mr. Wallen's sisters.

Book Club Has Meeting in Memory Member

A glimpse of home life in regions as different as Pan-American countries, Russia and Africa, was given members of the Woman's Book Club last Wednesday by Mrs. J. W. Kleinschmidt, Mrs. M. J. Morris, and Mrs. Frank Morgan.

Through their own contacts with people from the places discussed, through much reading, and careful organization of material the three speakers were able to bring out likeness and differences in people far apart in social and economic development and in distance. Mrs. Morgan showed beautiful handiwork from Nigeria, Africa, sent by her medical missionary brother.

This was the final study session on the subject, "Home Life Around the World."

At the business session, Miss Edna Graham, the president, reported on the recent meeting of the Seventh District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, which she attended as a delegate, and which Mrs. Lee Foster attended as a board member and pianist.

Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick, acting chairman of the program committee for 1955-56, asked members to submit their preferences regarding study for that year.

The president stated that a beautiful bouquet which had been placed on the speaker's table by Mrs. Warwick, was in memory of Mrs. S. L. Ingham.

A motion was made that the club in planning for its 50th anniversary in 1956 consider the establishment of an on-going memorial at the public library to honor its charter members and all its deceased members through the years. The motion was passed, and Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Mrs. Warwick, Mrs. Morris, and Mrs. T. B. McCarter were appointed to make a study of the project and report to the club at the next meeting.

Twenty-five members responded as Mrs. Lige Frieze, the secretary, called the roll.

Grasshoppers To Be Plains Menace

COLLEGE STATION: Severe grasshopper outbreaks are forecast in at least 10 Texas Panhandle counties this year. And a large portion of north and north central and central Texas is on the "threatened" list.

Entomologists base their conclusion upon grasshopper adult and egg surveys made during the late summer and fall. In all, they expect 1,750,000 acres of Texas rangeland to experience light to severe infestations this year.

Panhandle counties where potentially severe infestations were found include Lipscomb, Hemphill, Roberts, Hutchinson, Moore, Hartley, Gray, Donley, Armstrong, Randall and parts of bordering counties.

A south central Texas county, Robertson, also is considered a "severe" area.

An infestation is termed severe when 14 to 28 hoppers are found to the square yard. Concerted control measures may be warranted in these areas.

Biggest grasshopper threat to the nation's cropland centers in the Panhandle, Missouri, southern Wisconsin and eastern Kansas. A noticeable buildup from last year has occurred on some western ranges, reports the Grasshopper Control Project, a branch of the U.S.D.A.'s Agricultural Research Service. They say some 6,000,000 infested range acres occur in parts of 15 western states.

Shower Honors Mrs. Dan Gayler

Mrs. Dan Gayler was honored with a miscellaneous shower Thursday afternoon by Mrs. F. M. Hacker, Miss Florence Hacker, Mrs. Wilford Taylor, Jr., and Mrs. Kenneth Clark at the Hacker home.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. Hacker, the bride and her mother, Mrs. Lloyd McAtee.

Spring flowers were used in the spacious entertaining rooms. Guests enjoyed the honoree's pleasure in the lovely gifts which were displayed.

From 4 to 5 Mrs. W. A. Doan of Tulia presided at the tea table, which was centered with an arrangement of sweet peas and painted daisies in the bride's chosen colors, blue and white, and draped in sheer white linen.

During the 5 o'clock hour Mrs. C. N. Tippery, aunt of the bride, presided at the tea table.

PERFECT SQUELCH

Two ladies in the second row of the theater were much more interested in each other's conversation than in the play. A man behind them took about as much of the annoyance as he could. Finally he leaned forward, and touching one of the offenders on the shoulder, said: "Would you mind repeating that last remark? They were making so much noise on the stage that I didn't quite get it."

REALLY IN THE RED!

Teacher: "Define deficit."

Student: "That's what you've got when you haven't got as much as you had when you had nothing."

"I haven't seen you at church lately," a minister remarked to one of his parishioners one day. "I hope you're not slipping from the fold."

"Well, not exactly," replied the man. "But my daughter's learning to play the harp, and well—to tell you the truth, I'm not so particular about going to Heaven as I used to be."

THE SENSATIONAL STRATO-STREAK V-8

Here's the most modern and efficient V-8 in the industry, delivering 200 horsepower with the four-barrel carburetor, optional at very low extra cost.

It's a fact—never before in the history of the automobile industry has a car offered so much power for so little money as the 1955 Pontiac. It is the first and only automobile ever built that delivers 200 horsepower at a price every new-car buyer can afford—hundreds of dollars less than any car equalling its blazing performance.

And that's not all! Pontiac is also the sole automobile at its price to unite the terrific "drive" of 200 horsepower with a road-leveling 122" or 124" wheelbase and such big-car stability. It's the biggest as well as the highest-powered car ever priced with the lowest.

Yes, you read that right! You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars or stripped economy models of higher-priced makes.

Come in and drive this silken-smooth performer. A few miles behind the wheel will tell you better than any words that Pontiac is the greatest buy that ever took the highway!

Mrs. T. W. Collins Resigns As First Grade Teacher 26 Years

(By Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick)

Mrs. T. W. Collins retires this year from the Canyon Public Schools after teaching the first grade for the past 26 years.

Mrs. Collins came to Canyon in the summer of 1925 and enrolled in W.T.S.C. She attended college here until she received a Teachers Certificate and then through the influence of Miss Edna Haynes of the Education Department of the College and the late Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Foster was elected teacher in the Kress schools.

Mrs. Collins had decided on W.T.S.C. because she wanted to be close to her sister at Plainview and her two brothers who lived in Floyd County.

She had written the college for help in finding light-housekeeping rooms and they had recommended the G. G. Foster's. She stayed in their home the first summer she was in college and says no one ever had a friend more staunch than the Foster's proved to be to her. She said they helped, encouraged and advised her all through these first hard years.

After teaching in Kress for three years Mrs. Collins was elected first grade teacher in the Canyon Public Schools and began her 26 years of successful teaching of the first grade. With her retirement Canyon loses one of its most outstanding and best loved teachers.

Mrs. Collins is loved not only by her pupils but through the years has won the love, admiration and respect of her pupils parents, the members of the school board, and her fellow teachers.

Mrs. Collins was born at Valley Branch near St. Joe, Texas. Her grandfather had established a cotton gin on the banks of the Red River in the early days and his children had settled close around him. Her father, Andy Smith, and his brother, Albert, had married sisters and at the time of her birth were farming. Soon after this they decided to go into ranching as partners and from then on were known as the Smith Bros.

She was next to the youngest of five children, three girls and two boys. When she was three years old the Smith Brothers moved to Oklahoma where they leased land for ranching in the Old Indian Territory from the Indians near where the town of Ringling now stands, close to Ardmore.

There were no schools near their ranches in Oklahoma, but Mrs. Collins' mother was determined her children should have an education. She turned one large room of their ranch house into a school room, hired a teacher, and invited all the children from the adjoining ranches, including Albert's four children, to attend.

There were 15 children who attended this school and Mrs. Smith charged each child $1.25 tuition. Mrs. Smith selected the teachers herself. Besides teaching the three "R's" they had to be able to teach music, both organ and singing, and fancy work which was mostly knitting and crocheting as that was about all they could do as young as they were. Mrs. Collins says she remembers well the beautiful yarns they used. She said she was sure her mother did not pay over $20 a month, with room, board, and a horse to ride for these teachers, but, she said, "They all seemed to have a good time on the ranch."

Her early childhood on the ranch is such a pleasant memory to Mrs. Collins she says she wishes every child could spend their childhood on a ranch.

Her father died when she was six years old and her father's brother, Albert Smith, was made administrator and shortly after her father's death he bought adjoining ranches for the two families near Ringgold, Texas, and both families moved back to Texas.

Her mother died when she was 14 years old, but the family stayed together on the ranch. For a short time her grandfather came to live with them, after her mother's death, but he was old and soon found living with five hearty, healthy children too much of a task. Being well satisfied with the way they were running the ranch and their home life he went to live with his son whose home was close enough that they could run back and forth easily.

In 1906 Tom W. Collins came from Arlington to Ringgold to be manager of a dry goods store. Here he met Miss Allie Smith and three years later they were married in the Methodist Church at Ringgold. Four children were born to them: Francis, who is Mrs. Terrill Christian of Claude; Ethel Ruth, who is Mrs. Frank Spring of Friona; Joe Collins of Vernon, and Mary, who is Mrs. Ed Baggott of Amarillo.

Mrs. Collins has 11 grandchildren, two of whom, Tommie and Carolyn Christian of Claude, are enrolled in W.T.S.C. Tommie lives with his grandmother, a situation both enjoy.

In 1922 Mr. Collins died suddenly and Mrs. Collins was left with her family of four small children to educate. She soon found it would be better if she found some kind of employment and decided on teaching.

When she came to Canyon to enroll in W.T.S.C. she brought her four children with her, but soon found it too hard to care for the children and attend college, so sent the two younger children to her sister in Plainview.

While teaching in Kress she kept the two youngest children with her but sent Francis and Ethel Ruth to Canyon. Francis to attend W.T.S.C., Ethel Ruth to the Canyon High School, staying in the home of Mrs. Clyde McElroy.

When she began teaching in the Canyon first grade she purchased the home at 1907 Fifth Avenue and has lived there ever since, and at last, she was able to have her family all together again, for which she says she was deeply grateful.

With Mrs. Collins education has been a continuous process. She has attended college, or done observation work or taken trips to other colleges many summers since she began teaching. She earned her degree, but did not stop then. In every way she has studied to improve her methods of teaching. Weighing carefully every new method or device for teaching. Accepting what she thought good, rejecting the others.

In her 26 years of teaching in Canyon she has averaged a little over 30 children each year. The largest number being 38 one year. This makes over 780 children she has taught.

She has taken an active part in the work of the P-TA which she joined the first year she taught. Mrs. A. W. Sternenberg was president the year she joined. April 3, 1951, the local P-TA presented her with a life membership in Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers of the Parents and Teachers Branch of National Congress of Parents and Teachers in appreciation for her tireless efforts in the P-TA, and with a pin, both of which she prizes highly.

She is a member of the Classroom Teachers, a local organization of the Canyon schools. A member of the State Teachers Association and of the National Education Association, she has always taken an active part in these organizations.

At an early age she joined the Methodist Church and has always been an active, faithful member, giving liberally of all she had to give from her busy life.

Mrs. Collins says one of the things she prizes most of her teaching years is the lovely relationship she has always had with the parents of her school children. Their earnest desire to help her in all ways possible has been, she said, one of her greatest encouragements.

She has looked at each of her pupils, not just as a first grader, but as a future citizen, as the doctors, teachers, ministers, editors, business men, parents who make up every community and so has always stressed citizenship—the child's relationship and responsibility to others.

For the last few years Mrs. Collins has been teaching the children of the parents she taught her first years in Canyon.

Miss Elva Fronabarger who was principal at the Canyon Public Schools for 20 years writes the following lovely tribute to Mrs. Collins.

"When I heard that Mrs. Collins was retiring at the close of this year I sat down and 'listened to my memories' of the days she and I have worked together—more than 20 years.

"Her courage in face of difficulties mark her as a great woman and a great mother. When I first knew her, she had just lost her husband and had come to Canyon to finish her education so she could teach, and to educate her children. She attended school in the summers and taught in the school session on a salary that now seems unbelievably small. Yet, I never heard a word of complaint from her.

"She has been one of the finest teachers Canyon has ever had, as many mothers will tell you. And when you consider her wonderful children and the success they are making of their lives you know she has been a wonderful mother too. I always think of the golden homage to a good woman that is found in the Book of Proverbs 31:10 as applying especially to Mrs. Collins: 'Her price is far above rubies.'

"The next outstanding thing I recall about Mrs. Collins is that she really considered the character development of her pupils as of paramount importance. The child, no matter whose child, was not allowed to practice wrong habits without a most sincere effort on her part to correct the error. And, here again her courage was most evident. Many times it would have been easier and more popular to have overlooked the fault. But 'No,' Mrs. Collins always said, 'This child's character is in my keeping and I must do the best I can to see that it is properly developed.'

"Of course Mrs. Collins loved her little first graders. I am sure she would say as Alice Lee Humphries, in regard to her pupils, 'Heaven hath been in my hands. I am theirs and they are mine.' And Randall County has boys and girls, now adult and with homes and children of their own, who love and admire her.

"Then I remember another sweet thing about Mrs. Collins — She loved the young mothers of her first graders. She had already learned so much that they had still to learn. Often she would say to me after a group of these mothers had attended one of their programs or had helped at some school party, 'Miss Fronabarger, just look at these beautiful mothers. How fine they are! As long as we have mothers such as these our children will be safe.'

"Her fellow teachers loved her too. How well do I remember a time when we had six or eight young teachers, teaching for the first time. Mrs. Collins mothered these girls just like she did her own daughters. Many of them now are scattered over the country. But when they return they always go to see Mrs. Collins almost as soon as they get to town.

"And lastly, what do I remember about Mrs. Collins' attitude toward me as her principal. It was as near a perfect relationship as I could desire. Her poise, her good judgment, her excellent relationship to her children, and our patrons, her loyalty to the entire school personnel were attributes that made her an invaluable member of the faculty. My sincere wish is that her retirement period may be rich and happy in service to others as has been her professional life. Mrs. Collins, 'When I grow too old to remember some things I'll have you to remember' and will consider that I have had 'Heaven in My Hands' when I had you as one of my beloved teachers."

CUBS OF DEN 3 HOLD MEETING IN BUSTEED HOME

Cub Scouts of Den 3 met at the home of the den mother, Mrs. Robert Busteed, with all Cubs in this particular den present. The meeting was opened with the outdoor code: "As young Americans we are proud of our country with its natural resources and beauty and are eager to preserve them. We promise to do our best."

After the code everyone joined in the singing of "America." A discussion followed on the uses of wood and trees and the unnecessary waste due to fire. The Cubs learned that the rings of a tree reveal the age of the tree and plan to key each year with an event in American history at their next Pack meeting April 25.

The Cubs also practiced for the annual Cub Palava which will be held May 15 at Elwood Park in Amarillo. The following events are scheduled: Attendance event, pack yell, softball throw, hoop race, tug-o-war, sack race, do-this-do-that and 75 yard dash.

Refreshments of punch and suckers were served to Mike Calliham, Brad Gough, Wallace Busteed, George McBride, Johnny Gressett, Bobby Harris, and C. L. Reno.

SUNNYHILL CLUB STUDIES UNUSUAL ITEMS FOR FREEZER

When the Sunnyhill Home Demonstration Club met April 14 in the home of Mrs. M. R. Miller, Mary Jane Miller presented the program on unusual things to put in home freezers and new equipment for the kitchen.

Mary Neal Henry presided over the meeting. Leona Henry gave the council report and the T.H.D.A. report was given by Mrs. J. B. Knox.

This club furnished cakes and cookies for the open house in the new Farm Bureau building Friday.

Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, lemon bisque, and coffee were served to Sue and Mary Jane Miller, Myra Nell Culp, Ester Quanstrom, Leona and Mary Neal Henry, Gene Robinson, Mrs. Knox, Maurine Allison and the hostess, Rosie Miller.

Just Between You, Me . . . . . . and the Gatepost

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

Wayne Bagley made a daring weather prediction Saturday that is definitely worthy of mention here. His prediction, which he admitted was copied from an authoritative source, was that it will either be windy or calm tomorrow. Of course to be more specific you might add to that wet or dry. That would cover just about any weather situation we could possibly have here. As we said earlier, it is based on information from an authoritative source.

Mrs. Harter was in the office Saturday and she made a comment upon the dust of the few days prior to Saturday. She said that you could draw pictures or doodle-grams just about any place you wanted to without any pencil or crayon. It was understood that you would have to take time out occasionally to wash your hands so you could continue shifting the dust about instead of adding more to it as you dragged your finger along.

Last week was probably the commenting-ist week there ever was around here. C. R. Burrow had a comment about how he paid for his new car. According to this comment he got it with stamps. Then there was the comment made by Clark Gable-sh W. H. McKee. This was to the effect that now everyone knows he has a mustache. He gave us credit for breaking the great event, said no one noticed it until they read about him in this column.

Postmaster Guy Harp and Luke Miller, one of the post office employees, were out back Saturday morning measuring off some of the lawn at the rear of the post office. They are preparing to put more concrete down in back of the building to accommodate the new trucks the post office is just beginning to use.

To get serious for a moment, there's a great need for an additional $345 in the Randall County Memorial Fund. This is not a drive that will be sustained for a great number of years into the future. When the $600 that is needed for this memorial is collected that will be the last of this activity as far as collecting money is concerned. A memorial to the Randall County World War II dead should have been obtained years ago.

Although the Memorial Plaque is long overdue, the present provides a natural opportunity to make the most of obtaining it and dedicating it. The fund is now up to $255 and $600 is needed. If that $600 is collected by Saturday, April 30, the memorial can be dedicated at the same time the Canyon City Park is dedicated. Is it possible that we have forgotten those men of World War II who gave their lives on the battlefields that we might enjoy peace at home? If the pace of living is so fast that we cannot remember and look back to our WW-II dead occasionally, it's time to stop and think.

Now is the time for all good gardeners to come to the aid of their club. Mrs. Warwick has aided the formation of a garden club in Canyon. Those people who are interested in horticulture should get into this garden club quickly. It will soon be too late to start a garden.

We may not be a gardener but we sure have a good crop of corn. Here comes a little of it your way now.

Nature doesn't disappoint the person who is always looking for something bad.

Some people are like the farmer who did his plowing by turning his field over in his mind.

Lipstick and flypaper both catch careless creatures that pause to investigate.

Here's why Chevrolet out-V8's everybody!

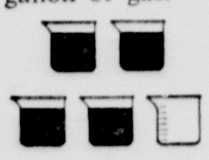
These features and advantages are the measure of a truly modern V8 engine . . . and only Chevrolet has them in the low-price field. Most aren't even found in high-priced cars. That's why Chevrolet is stealing everybody's thunder with the most modern V8 on the road!

motoramic
CHEVROLET

Modern 12-volt electrical system!
The only car in the low-price field with the extra energy of 12 volts . . . twice the electrical punch!

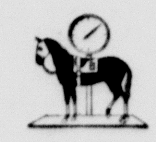
Faster, stronger cranking for cold-weather starts and a "fatter" spark for faultless high-speed operation.

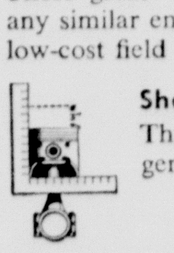
Highest standard compression ratio in its field!
Chevrolet's compression ratio is 8 to 1, to wring every possible ounce of power and extra miles out of every gallon of gas.



Requires only four quarts of oil!
Chevrolet's V8 engines are so efficient they need only four quarts of oil . . . so you save on every change!

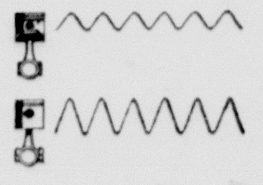
Highest horsepower per pound!
These great V8's weigh far less than any similar engine in America, top the low-cost field in power per pound!





Shortest piston stroke in the industry!
Three-inch stroke reduces cylinder-wall friction, generates less heat, permits more compact design.

The pistons do far less traveling per mile . . . that means less engine wear, lighter loads on bearings.



It's the valve-in-head V8 as only the valve-in-head leader can build it!
